Harder

Ernest O. Holland

President

Dr. E. O. Holland has been chief executive of the State College since 1916. He received his B. A. degree from the University of Indiana in 1895, and his Ph. D. from Columbia University in 1912.

Before coming to the State College he was an experienced educational administrator, having taught in various schools in the middle west, and was for several years Superintendent of Schools in Louisville, Kentucky. He has been an extensive writer and investigator in his own field, and has written several text books in conjunction with other writers.

WE HAVE increasing evidence that college men and women of today appreciate their opportunities and responsibilities. Despite rumor to the contrary, I am sure that there is less misbehavior and less foolishness among college students today than there has been at any time during the last quarter of a century.

Last fall, without undue pressure by the faculty, the sophomore class of 750 students and the freshman class of 1200, agreed to eliminate the "bushwhacking" and disorder attending their former plan of carrying on a mild type of rowdyism for a week or two, and, in some cases, for a month or six weeks, in the fall.

Furthermore, the scholarship of hundreds of freshmen and sophomores in the last two or three years was seriously affected by this campus warfare. I wish to offer my congratulations to the freshman and sophomore leaders for the fine way in which they have handled their "supremacy" contests, supported the football and other varsity teams, and carried on their college work. These are real achievements.

We have a spirit of cooperation in evidence on the W. S. C. campus. There is good will, team-work, a happy attitude toward life, and an earnest desire to make the most of the opportunities offered by college training.

The commendable spirit of the freshmen and sophomores is a definite reflection of the spirit of cooperation and good will found in the leading men and women on the campus. I am proud of the "hello" spirit at W. S. C. A student is not honored simply because he has money; and he is not looked down upon because he must work his way through college. Young men and women here are rated largely upon their scholarship, and their individual worth as college citizens.

Graduates of the State College of Washington are filling important positions in industrial and vocational life and in the leadership of the Northwest. The final test of this institution, supported by federal and state funds, is the conduct and the success of graduates who go out and take their places in life.

W. A. RITZ, J. H. HULBERT, F. J. WILMER, E. O. HOLLAND, WALTER R. ROWE ARTHUR W. DAVIS,

The Board of Regents

THE personnel of the Board of Regents consists of men prominent in the state who are interested in education in general and the State College of Washington in particular. Each member of the board is appointed by the governor of the state of Washington and is chosen from among well-known business and professional men.

The duties of the board consist in the administration of the State College of Washington. All questions concerning the policy of the college come under its management; all financial and executive problems important in the progress of the institution are taken care of by the Board.

This year, as in the years past, a number of difficult executive questions have been ably worked out.

Members of the Board are:

J. H. HULBERT, Mount Vernon	President
ARTHUR W. DAVIS, Spokane	Vice President
W. A. RITZ	Walla Walla
F. J. WILMER	Rosalia
W. R. ROWE	Naches

Osmar L. Waller

Vice-President

Dr. O. L. Waller affiliated himself with the State College in 1893 as Professor of Mathematics and Civil Engineering, taking the Vice-Presidency in 1909. He received his Ph. D. and Ph. M. degrees from Hillsdale College and studied Law at the University of Michigan. In June of 1929 he received an LL.D. degree from Washington State College.

A study of the history leading up to the founding of land-grant colleges, of which the State College is one, shows conclusively that the old universities were not meeting the scientific needs of the great industries, and that after half a century of debate, propaganda, and memorials the land-grant act was passed by Congress providing scientific and applied scientific education for the industrial classes. Until the passage of the land-grant act, applied science had poor standing in the field of education. This legislation has placed applied science, in the form of agriculture and engineering, upon a level with the other professions.

Under the new education, industrial classes came to believe that education applied to their life's work was as much their right as it was the right of the favored professional class. They insisted that science should be put into working clothes and be made to help solve the prevailing industrial problems.

In Europe science was compelled to go to work in the eighteenth century. Not until after the land-grant colleges came into existence in the nineteenth century were the sciences compelled to earn their living in America.

The State College of Washington was organized in 1890 under the land-grant act, and since that time has graduated many hundred students trained in applied science. Many of them are actively employed in the world's work. Their training has made them useful and valuable citizens.

DEAN ANNIE M. FERTIG

Dean of Women

There is nothing too good for women of the State College. Our desire is to give them the training, both physical and mental, which shall help to make them worthy and influential citizens of the state.

Signed,

MRS. ANNIE M. FERTIG.

TO GIVE counsel to each young woman enrolled at the State College; to guide each in achieving a more nearly perfect sense of values in dealing with her academic and personal problems; and above all, to be a friend of every individual; these are but a few of the duties of the Dean of Women. Mrs. Fertig received her B. A. degree from the University of Chicago, and her M. A. from Columbia. Her previous experience in girls' affairs as well as her excellent work since she has been here have made her services invaluable to the State College.

DEAN CARL MORROW

Dean of Men

DEAN CARL MORROW rcceived his B. A. degree from the University of Iowa and was assistant Dean of Men at that school for four years. He had, also, eight years of experience in the public and high schools of Iowa before coming to Washington State as first Dean of Men in 1926.

Service is the objective and ideal behind the functioning of the office of Dean of Men, service in supervising the social life, health, scholarship, and general welfare of the group as a whole. His purpose is to be of help in solving the student's problems, in aiding the student to meet those difficulties which may bar the way to success or even make it impossible to continue a college career.

This office has proved itself essential to a smoothly functioning college and has become an integral part of the institution.

Cherish the Traditions

WHAT are the fundamental traditions of the State College?

Over the stage in the auditorium are the never-to-be-forgotten words, "founded to promote the education of the industrial classes for the several pursuits and professions of life." Human life expresses itself, not through an abstract, but through a concrete idealism—a pursuit or profession of life.

Democracy is a fundamental tradition of the State College. The college has drawn its membership from all classes of people, but once here and enrolled in full membership no one claims superiority because of antecedents, natural or artificial. All are equal in the eyes of all. All have an equal chance to win honors in all student activities and organizations. Some, mayhap, must earn a livelihood as they are earning an education. Are they therefore to be looked down on, ostracized, because of this? It never has been so. May it never be so.

Loyalty. In the early days this was almost a passion with student body and faculty. Personal sacrifices for loyalty were willingly—almost eagerly made. Slight by innuendo or open insult to the college or its representatives was promptly resented and the honor of the college name defended. The members, whether faculty or student, left no room for ignorance or envy of the functions or equipment of the college to smirch its fair name.

Campus traditions take time to become traditions. There are years of sifting and it has become a tradition of the traditions to sift out and drop those that have in them any unworthy element.

Memorials. No matter how or by whom established, it is well to cherish them with respect. The totem pole grew out of a prank; the Evergreen fountain was the fine thought of an active editor and business manager; the noble Roman archway was due to the aspirations and sacrifices of the class of 1905; the Chinook itself is monumental in its character and purposes. Preserve the traditions with care.

Among the alumni, now a long line of active and successful men and women, engaged in the several pursuits and professions of life, it has become a tradition to preserve the tradition of simplicity, democracy and usefulness that was cherished as campus ideals in "the college that stands on the hill" whose emblem is the crimson and gray.

W. C. KRUEGEL

F. T. BARNARD

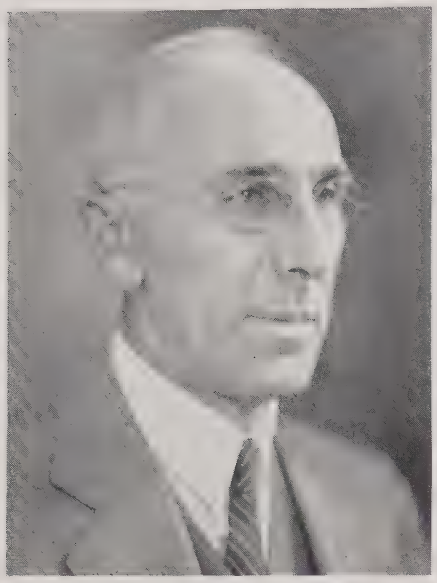
Bursar and Registrar

THE Bursar and Registrar come into direct contact with every student on the campus of the State College of Washington within the first week of student life here. This contact made on the first day carries through the entire career of each individual and is essential in maintaining the orderly financial and scholarship records.

William C. Kruegel, Bursar of Washington State College, was graduated with the class of 1902, the first class to be given degrees from Washington Agricultural College. His work is with the finances of administration, in which capacity he is an essential factor in a smoothly running State College.

Under the supervision of Frank T. Barnard, Registrar, a complete record of every individual who has ever taken work at the institution is kept. Mr. Barnard has been associated with the institution since 1908, and is the friend of countless alumni and undergraduates.

College of Mechanic Arts and Engineering



Dean Hubert V. Carpenter

DEAN HUBERT V. CARPENTER has been with the State College since 1901. His college work was done at the University of Illinois, where he received his B. S. and M. S. degrees. He was also an instructor at the University of Illinois before he came here.

The College of Mechanic Arts and Engineering at the State College of Washington includes the major engineering divisions of civil, mechanical, electrical, and architectural engineering, together with those sciences fundamental to all engineering work, namely mathematics and physics.

Many people wonder what becomes of so many technically trained men as are being turned out by the colleges and universities. People raise this question because they do not know the remarkable rate at which industrial activities have multiplied since the beginning of the century and particularly since the War. The consumption of electricity, for example, is about three times what it was at the end of the War. Many other similar barometers show like development. Many activities, such, for example, as communication, have not only increased in magnitude but also in complexity. This applies more or less in all engineering activities. Bridges, locomotives, highways, textiles, factories, everything of this sort is becoming more complex and requires higher technical skill in construction and operation. More and more, also, is industry calling upon the engineer to assume the responsibilities for executive control so that many engineers are being drafted for work only partially technical, thus leaving an opportunity for the younger man.

College of Sciences and Arts

DEAN CLARE E. TODD

THE College of Sciences and Arts contributes its share to the education of every student entering the State College. Of the total enrollment, forty per cent throughout their four undergraduate years follow courses of study in the various liberal arts and science departments, preparing for professional careers and for citizenship. All other students, members of the several technical colleges and schools, seek from the College of Sciences and Arts instruction in English, foreign languages, social sciences, and the biological and physical sciences.

Even more notable than the expansion of the undergraduate work has been the development of the graduate division. For gifted students who wish to proceed beyond the customary four-year course, numerous fellowships are offered, providing opportunity to study for the Master's and Doctor's degrees in the arts and sciences.

School of Education

Dean A. A. Cleveland

With the growth of the modern high school has arisen a demand for teachers who are prepared not only to teach the several subjects in the high school program but also to participate in the organization and conduct of the other work of the school, such as the development of character, training in group activity as a preparation for citizenship, guidance in the selection of vocations and in finding one's place and meaning in the community. One who would undertake to discharge these responsibilities needs thorough grounding in the principles involved, familiarity with the technique and procedures to be used, and preliminary practice under competent supervision. The School of Education is organized to afford these several aspects of training. Its courses are given by a faculty group, all of whose members have had both high grade training and experience in secondary school teaching, administration and supervision. The supervised practice is afforded in an opportunity for cadet teaching made possible by the courtesy and cooperation of the school authorities of Pullman and Spokane.

The School of Education also provides training for the work of administration of school systems, and numbers among its alumni many successful superintendents of schools in all parts of Washington and in neighboring states. Most of these administrative officers return for graduate work leading to the Master of Arts degree.

The complexity of modern life and the corresponding demands upon the schools necessitate not only well trained teachers and administrators but persons competent to discover the means of discharging the obligations of the school with efficiency and economy. Therefore one of the most important of the functions of the School of Education is that of training in educational research. While much of the advanced work taken by school superintendents and principals is along this line, opportunity is provided for undergraduates who would make a beginning in preparation for the new and specialized positions that are now becoming common, wherein the worker devotes all or a major portion of his time to the investigation of problems.

In addition to the degrees granted at the end of the several training programs, able students are admitted to membership in the professional fraternities of Phi Delta Kappa (for men) and Pi Lambda Theta (for women). Such membership is a recognized mark of distinction.

College of Agriculture

DEAN EDWARD C. JOHNSON

OVER the entrance of the Union depot in our nation's capitol is this inscription: "The farm, best home of the family, main source of national wealth, foundation of civilized society, the natural providence."

While the College of Agriculture does not train young men and women for the farm alone, the large majority who enjoy its privileges, and who utilize their opportunities when college days are over, take up interesting and useful work in the agricultural field, including farming, landscape architecture, forestry, floriculture, teaching, experimental and research work, extension work, farm marketing and agricultural business enterprises of many kinds—all contributing to the progress of agriculture and to the building of the farm home and farm life.

Realizing that agricultural prosperity is a necessity for the life of the growing population, the College of Agriculture keeps its ideals in mind, yearly training many students to contribute toward making the agricultural methods of the United States outstanding among nations.

Interest in education for this worthwhile field lagged for a while because of the severe agricultural depression following the War, but is now reviving, and more students are taking work in the College of Agriculture in 1930 than at any time since 1920.

School of Music and Fine Arts

Dean Herbert Kimbrough

Music offers excellent opportunities as a vocation for young musicians of ability who have a good academic background. Educators everywhere are giving greater recognition to music as a factor in education.

Probably the most important trend in music study during the past few years has been toward public school music. Standards for music supervisors have been raised and there are openings for those having the qualifications to meet the higher standards.

There is a demand in the high schools for teachers of bands, orchestras, glee clubs, choruses, music appreciation, harmony, and musical history. Those qualified to teach the various band and orchestral instruments have exceptional opportunities. A large number of music majors at the State College of Washington are preparing for work in this field.

Aside from the preparation for teaching in the public school system, many of our students are fitting themselves for teaching in universities, colleges, and normal schools, or to become private teachers of voice, piano, pipe organ, violin, or band and orchestral instruments.

There are opportunities for radio, orchestra, and church work for musicians of ability. The concert field is open only to those who have exceptional talent, and who have had a musical background from very early youth.

College of Home Economics

DEAN FLORENCE HARRISON

THE College of Home Economics is most fortunate in having new and ample quarters for its work. This year brought a decided increase in the number of women majoring in Home Economics. Students are being trained to become teachers, dietitians, research specialists, extension workers, textile analysts. Fundamental training is given for home decorators and dress designers.

Opportunity is also offered for young women to get the fundamental training in homemaking. Attempts are made to develop the right attitude toward home and family life and to help the young women to recognize the importance of the family group in society.

The Nursery School, a new addition to the college last year, offers opportunity for women to work with children of pre-school age. Through observation and the experiences of working with children, they learn the needs and abilities of small children and get a sense of responsibility for the physical and mental development of children.

For those students desiring to become teachers, the College of Home Economics cooperates with the School of Education in offering courses in special methods, directed teaching and research. Directed teaching is done in the Pullman High School where actual experience is obtained.

Two research specialists have been added to the college staff. One study, "The Present Use of Work Time of the Farm Homemakers," has been completed. These research women are experimenting upon the efficiency of home equipment. Ample opportunities are offered to students who wish to work in this field.

The addition of a central kitchen with two dining rooms in the new dormitory has given another practice center for those students who wish to become tea room, coffee shop, or dormitory managers, or dietitians in hospitals. The dormitory kitchens, coffee shop and Commons afford opportunity for training in this field.

Ruskin said, "Man is only educated if he is happy, busy, beneficial and effective in the world." Home Economics is a field of endeavor which gives opportunities for one to be happy, busy, effective, and of benefit to humanity.

DEAN A. E. DRUCKER

School of Mines and Geology

THE most dominant characteristic of the mining engineering profession is the vast preponderance of the commercial over the technical in the daily work of the engineer. For years a gradual evolution has been in progress, altering the larger demands on this branch of the engineering profession from advisory to executive work. The mining engineer is no longer the technician who concocts reports and blue prints. It is demanded of him that he devise the finance, construct and manage the works which he advises. The demands of such executive work are largely commercial; although the commercial experience and executive ability thus become one pier in the foundation of training, the bridge no less requires two piers, and the second is based on technical knowledge. Far from being depreciated, these commercial phases cannot be too strongly emphasized. On the other hand, I am far from contending that our vocation is a business rather than a profession.

There is now demanded of the mining specialist a wide knowledge of certain branches of civil, mechanical, electrical, and chemical engineering, geology, economics, the humanities, and what not; and in addition to all this, engineering sense, executive ability, business experience, and financial insight. Engineering sense is that fine blend of honesty, ingenuity, and intuition which is a mental endowment apart from knowledge and experience. Its possession is the test of the real engineer. It distinguishes engineering as a profession from engineering as a trade. It is this sense that elevates the possessor to the profession which is, of all others, the most difficult and the most comprehensive. Financial insight can only come by experience in the commercial world. Likewise must come the experience in technical work which gives balance to theoretical training. Executive ability is that capacity to coordinate and command the best results from other men,—it is a natural endowment which can be cultivated only in actual use.

College of Veterinary Medicine

Dean E. E. Wegner

It is gratifying indeed to note the increasing demand for veterinarians and the many useful services that our graduates perform.

Our investment in livestock in the United States is fixed at approximately eight billion dollars. This immense investment would be insecure if it were not for the trained men who protect our livestock health. Increasing numbers of veterinarians are employed each year by federal, state, and county governments to supervise livestock sanitation. This service is directed toward the suppression of, and in some cases even the elimination of certain devastating animal plagues. This important work insures a continuous and profitable employment for our graduates.

Human health is frequently affected by diseases that may be transmitted from animals to man. Thus, the protection of human health has become an important feature of the work of the veterinarian, and today increasing numbers of our graduates are finding useful and profitable employment in the work of suppressing diseases that not only endanger the lives of our animals, but also endanger the lives of our people. The importance of this service is becoming recognized by a greater and greater number of people in responsible positions on health boards and the number of veterinarians being sought for this service is rapidly increasing. The time is approaching when this service is going to require a much larger number of highly trained men.

It is no wonder that a profession that is responsible for such essential service should attract many of the finest young people of our country.

Conditions in Veterinary Medicine are good and are getting better.

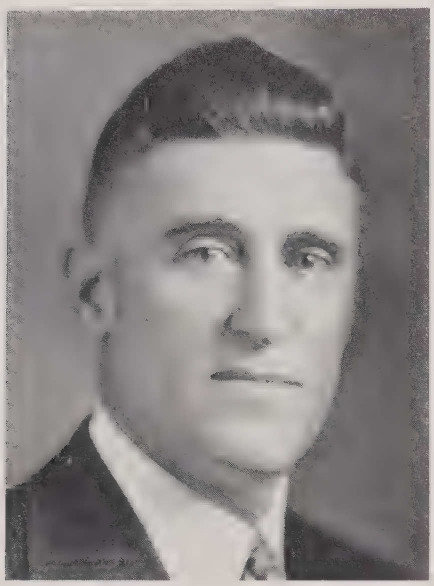
School of Pharmacy



DEAN P. H. DIRSTINE

THE development of the School of Pharmacy at the State College of Washington from its establishment in 1892, to its present rating as one of the ten leading colleges of pharmacy in the United States, has been a gradual and steady process. From the very beginning the work that has been offered has been of a high class, and above that of the general average of pharmaceutical instruction throughout the country.

Until six or seven years ago, nearly all the students taking pharmacy were students enrolled in the short course. Nearly all of the students were graduated from the two-year course which was discontinued in 1925. The courses now offered are: a three-year course, two four-year courses, and a five-year course. They are respectively, the standard three-year course in pharmacy, a four-year combined Pharmacy and Pre-Medicine course, a four-year Pharmaceutical Administration course, and a five-year course offering graduate work leading to the Master of Science degree.

The School of Pharmacy has endeavored at all times, to make its work as practical as possible, and in the development of its curricula has constantly kept this in mind. The work is largely of laboratory character and in order to present this work effectively it has been necessary to secure some of the finest and very latest types of equipment, and at present the division of Pharmacy is looked upon as being one of the best and most modern equipped Schools of Pharmacy in this country.

The School of Pharmacy will discontinue its three-year course in Pharmacy not later than 1932 and possibly may make the advancement before 1932. All the best schools of Pharmacy in this country, those belonging to the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy, will require four years of college work for a pharmacy degree after 1932.

Physical Education for Women

HELEN G. SMITH

RECOGNIZING that health is one of our most precious possessions, the Department of Physical Education for Women aims to provide opportunities for healthy individuals to maintain their high standard of good health and to assist those not in perfect condition to improve their present standard and store up for the future. It also attempts to develop a love of sports and an appreciation of the benefits of exercise so that after leaving college the individual will continue to follow some form of activity. With this in mind the department offers a varied program designed to appeal to everyone, ranging from the less strenuous forms, such as correctives, archery, clogging, to the most active such as basketball, hockey, interpretative dancing.

A major course in Physical Education is offered, leading to a Bachelor of Science degree. The increasing number of states requiring Physical Education in the schools is making a greater demand for trained teachers in this field. The course is designed to fit graduates to enter any of the four general fields which are open to women—(1) Schools and Colleges; (2) Recreation centers, camps, playgrounds, Y. W. C. A.'s; (3) Remedial work in hospitals or doctors' offices, U. S. Marine and Army hospitals; (4) Factory or industrial hygiene and recreation. Anyone entering this field should have the following qualifications: (1) Health; (2) Interest and natural ability in P. E. activities; (3) A service ideal.

In addition to the work given during the school year, the Department offers a short summer course in Camp Leadership in alternate years. In 1930 the course will be given at Camp Sweyolakan on Coeur d'Alene Lake.

DR. J. F. BOHLER

J. Fred Bohler, head of the department of physical education, has been with Washington State College for twenty-two years. During this time he has contributed much to the institution, and largely due to his persistent, competent work and personal supervision, the physical education department has developed in size and efficiency. He is one of the "fathers" of basketball and one of the outstanding leaders of physical education in America. To everyone of the campus, he is familiarly and affectionately known as "Doc."

Physical Education for Men

WITH each passing year, the Department of Physical Education and Athletics at the State College of Washington is making definite progress toward the attainment of its ideal—"A game for everyone and everyone in a game." In addition to our new, splendidly equipped gymnasium, completed in the fall of 1928, the large Field House, erected during the summer by the Associated Students, is now available, not only for varsity sports but also for intramural activities. Our plant now is second to none on the Pacific Coast.

An extensive program of games and sports is being offered from which students may select their activity. Those physically unable to take part in any active form of physical exercise have the benefit of our corrective types of corrective division. An auxiliary gymnasium, equipped with various types of corrective and therapeutic apparatus, serves the physically deficient.

Although our normal training course was established comparatively recently, many of our graduates are successfully filling positions in our own state, while others are carrying the message of health farther afield. There is an increasing demand for graduates from this course, and positions, so far, have been plentiful.

College Library

W. W. FOOTE

THE library has grown from a small collection of a few volumes in 1892, and has steadily increased in size and usefulness. In 1910 the library numbered only 12,688 volumes, and since then the growth and development of the library has increased very rapidly, and we now have a collection of more than 180,000 bound volumes. There are only two university libraries in the Northwest which are comparable in size and selection.

The old idea of a museum type of library has given place to a new conception; that the library should give service to the public, and it is now recognized as an integral part of higher education. We have, in the past decade, been changing from what was known as the textbook or quizz method of instruction to a much broader view of education and a recognition of the power of the printed page, with the result that greater demands are now made on the resources of the library.

Emphasis is placed upon that fact that essential to the successful library administration is the recognition that the library is a work shop which will be the center of the intellectual life of the institution, to which students and faculty will be eager to come for study, research and recreational reading.

The library staff is anxious to give the new student the necessary information which will make possible the fullest use of the resources of the library as complementary to class work and laboratory equipment. We desire to give to the student an appreciation of books as an essential source of information and culture and enable him to use intelligently the various devices and aids which are provided for finding the information which the library contains.

DR. F. F. NALDER

Division of General College Extension

MAKING the whole state of Washington the campus of the State College is the work of Dr. Frank F. Nalder. Since he became Director of the Division of General College Extension ten years ago, every town of the state has come to know his genial personality and keen wit. He has paved the way for thousands of ambitious young men and women to attend extension classes while working at home, and to study college correspondence courses under the guidance of the faculty.

1. Correspondence courses. Nearly 100 courses are given by mail. Almost all of them yield credit toward the college degree, although in many instances they are taken by persons whose interest in them is purely cultural.

2. Extension classes. These are organized wherever a group of persons sufficiently large to form a class are interested in a given subject and can be reached by an instructor from the college. Each year the college instructs hundreds of persons in extension classes.

3. Educational motion picture films and stereopticon slides. The Extension Division has a fine library of these means of visual instruction. They are supplied to community groups, schools, churches and other organizations.

4. Extension lectures. These are of a highly varied character, and given where desired, by members of the college faculty. This many-sided service of the college is steadily expanding in response to public demand.

Alumni Association

THE Alumni Association of the State College of Washington is an organization composed of all the graduates of the college. It has no set rules of procedure but strives in every way to further the welfare of the college and uphold its reputation for good. Its members are bound together by ties of affection and friendship which cannot be found in any other organization.

Peculiar to all state institutions, the State College of Washington derives the greater part of its maintenance monies from the state and indirectly as the graduate takes his place in the world he is called upon either to serve in the legislature or some other public office, or to use his influence in helping some other citizen to attain these distinctions. Thus, for the new graduate to be able to help his alma mater, he must take an active interest in civic affairs so that he will have the influence to demand and be able to actually show the needs and the value of the college to his neighbors.

"We, of the Alumni Association, trust and feel sure that as the membership increases we will be able to help more and in a small way return a few of the favors which were most favorably bestowed on us in our undergraduate days. College days were among the happiest of our lives and we live them over by keeping in touch with our Alma Mater."

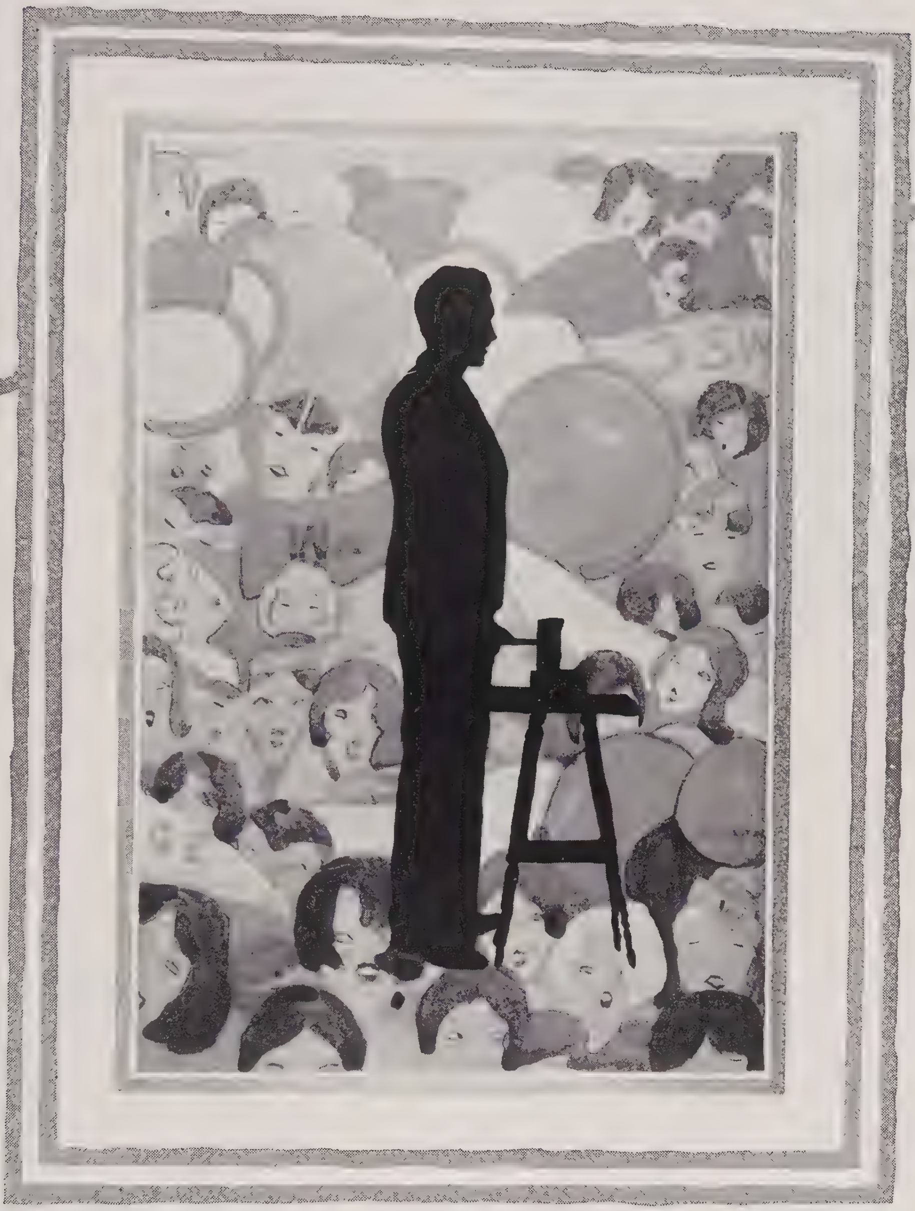
The Alumnus	Pullman

The trees and close-clipped lawns and bright flowers which form the forty acres of beauty we call—The Campus, are made possible through the work of a force of twelve men directed by L. M. Williams, foreman.

As the largest campus in the northwest kept green entirely by sub-irrigation, W. S. C. lawns present a far greater problem than would appear.

Twice a week a member of the force spends a morning gathering up the gum papers and bar wrappers which have scattered themselves along campus walks, and throughout the spring the buzz of the lawn-mower lends fitting accompaniment to the many student activities of that period.



Earl V. Foster

The Associated Students of the State College of Washington

Graduate Manager

Earl Foster has been intimately connected with student affairs at the State College of Washington for a number of years, both as an undergraduate and as the graduate manager. Under the direction of his present office come a number of duties concerning the business activities of various campus enterprises. He is a member of the Board of Control, and under the present system, that body has complete control of all Associated Student operations. All athletics, musical, dramatic and journalistic undertakings are financially worked out by and responsible to him.

Loyd A. Bury, assistant to the graduate manager, has charge of all lectures and entertainments which come to the college. He takes care of all details connected with plays, concerts, individual artists, and shows presented here. He is in addition closely associated in an advisory capacity to the college publications.

Ed. Murrow, President

IRENE MACKEDON

ED MURROW has won singular honors during his year's experience in the pivot position as president of the Associated Students. In addition to inaugurating and carrying out a number of new projects here on the campus, he has achieved international prominence for himself and for the college by his election to the highest offices in the Pacific Student Federation and the National Student Federation of America.

An A plus personality, together with a level head and the ability to see clearly into the problems confronting the college students of the present day, has been the prime factor responsible for his election to the national leadership of the college and university student presidents of the United States.

Equally popular and completely efficient in her capacity of secretary, Irene Mackedon has been an important unit in the smoothly running campus machine.

DOROTHY FROST

Board of Control

Dorothy Frost, as acting secretary of the Pacific Student Federation, appointed by Ed Murrow to take charge of communications between school representatives, is to be congratulated for her tireless efforts in behalf of the organization.

ΔΣΨ.

We pause to weep the passing of the old,
To watch the twilight of a summer day
Regretful that those hours we cannot stay
Have gone, and with them all their freight of gold
And life and sunshine lost. The pleasant mould
In which our youth was shaped of willing clay
Is transient too; nor will swift Time delay
To bring the changes that our hearts foretold.

But as the old slips past, we see the new,
A promise for the days that beckon on
As sweetly as the others said adieu;
And life holds hours to match those that are gone.
No pause nor stop is left for mournful tears
In our chronology of changing years.

Athletic Council

THE all-important task of arranging schedules for every athletic team representing the State College of Washington is among the primary duties of the athletic council, an executive body. It is a representative body and controls the activities of all athletic teams during the year, including in its work the recording of all athletic contests in which the college participates.

The President of the college is chairman of the athletic council, with the Graduate Manager as secretary and alumni member. The council includes three alumni members, chosen by the Alumni Association, three faculty members and three undergraduates elected by the student body.

RALL KING PECK

ORIGINAL and distinctive cheer leading sections were organized by Johnny King, varsity yell king, and his two dukes, Conrad Peck and Stan Rall, at all of the major football tilts on the 1929 program.

Blocked off sections in technicolor design featured King's programs. Letter design, vociferous and well-timed cheering, and image formations, combined to make the cheerleading the best that has been offered at Washington State in several years past. Following the precedent of last year's successful practice of conducting a yell-leading class, King offered a similar class in 1930. Instruction in body movement, and organization of sections are taught to the tryouts who are voted upon at a following Associated Student Body meeting.

COACH
ORIN E. "BABE" HOLLINGBERY

WITH the signing of a new two-year full-time contract, Coach Orin E. (Babe) Hollingbery becomes even more firmly entrenched in the football destinies of Washington State college and in the spirit and morale of the student body. When he sounds the call for his gridders next fall Hollingbery will be starting his fifth season as pilot of the Cougar football ship.

Probably no other coach in the history of the school's football career is as well liked and admired as is Coach Hollingbery. He instills his own famous fighting spirit into the team and the student body and in return the students back Hollingbery and his Cougars to a man. Hollingbery's teams are known throughout the West as aggressive, hard fighting elevens that battle to the last ditch and are never through till the final gun. He never alibies in defeat and is equally sportsmanlike in victory.

Hollingbery's first year in Cougartown was one of marked success. In his debut into the big time coaching ranks of the Coast conference he led the Cougars through a season marred by only one defeat and that to the mighty Southern California aggregation. Included in the list of Hollingbery's victims were Washington's Huskies, who dropped a 9 to 6 battle to insure the Staters of the Northwest championship.

His second and third seasons here lacked the brilliance of his first campaign, but he nevertheless placed the Cougars in the first division both years. Last season climaxed his four years as coach of the Cougars as his warriors won ten games to set a new scoring record for Washington State college.

Despite the loss of seven veterans by graduation, Hollingbery will undoubtedly turn out his usual strong team for the 1930 conference race. With several new faces in the conference coaching picture, W. S. C. is being left out of the ballyhoo for the 1930 championship, but Cougar fans are confident that Coach Hollingbery will turn out his usual, hard-driving, fighting eleven to represent Washington State. A post-season intersectional game at Philadelphia on November 29 against Villanova college will feature Washington State's 1930 gridiron campaign.

ARCHIE BUCKLEY

BOHLER MEDAL

The J. Fred Bohler Medal

ARCHIE BUCKLEY, that flashing, scrapping mite of a football player who burned up Pacific Coast gridirons for three years as a Cougar backfield ace, was awarded the J. Fred Bohler medal for being the greatest inspiration to his team mates during the 1929 season.

Always a spark in the Cougar team and a deciding factor in no small number of their victories, Buckley was awarded Washington State's greatest athletic honor by a vote of his team mates after the most successful grid season a W. S. C. eleven ever experienced.

The blond Cougar flash was known all along the coast for his brilliant football work. No game was ever drab or dull as long as Buckley was on the field, for his specialty was to uncork a sensational play any place and any time. One of the best field generals in the Northwest, he was placed on the Northern division all-star team as quarterback.

The pint-sized signal barker was a hard man to down despite his lack of weight. He shone mostly in returning punts, but was also good for yardage on quarterback sneaks and quick-opening line plays. He possessed one of the best educated toes in the conference and more than one ball game was broken up by his well-aimed place kicks.

Remember the little substitute who raced onto the field to reorganize the tottering Cougars in their Homecoming clash with Washington last fall? Washington had swept through the Cougars for two touchdowns, but the peppery signal caller brought them out of their lethargy and led the drive that sent the Huskies back on their haunches to a 20 to 13 trimming. That dash and fire that was not to be denied was typical of "Buck's" gridiron career.

Back in 1928 the Cougars journeyed up to Spokane to do battle with their old-time rivals, the Gonzaga Bulldogs. The home boys unleashed unexpectedly stiff opposition and neither team scored in the first three periods. Then with only two minutes to play, Buckley was rushed into the fray to kick a difficult field goal and snatch the game out of the fire. Last fall it was Archie's 46-yard field goal—one of the longest boots recorded in the nation during the season—that gave the Cougars a 9-to-7 decision over Oregon State's aggregation.

After starring for four years at Colville high school, "Buck" has blazed a brilliant path through Washington State athletics. As the only three-sport man in school he has starred as a forward in basketball and a third-sacker in baseball along with his sensational football performances.

Winners of the Bohler medal are:

1921—Milo (Pink) McIver
1922—Ford Dunton
1923—Johnnie Zaephel
1924—Marvin (Fat) Hales
1925—Bill Kramer

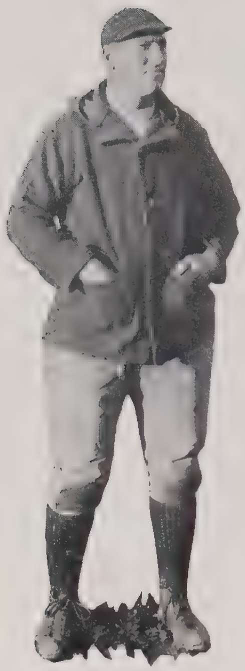
Wilbur "Doc" Bohm

COMBINING the utmost in professional efficiency with a genial personality, Dr. Wilbur Bohm, better known as "Doc" to every man on the State College campus, is an important cog in W. S. C. athletics and in campus life. As athletic trainer, assistant track coach, director of the orthopedic gymnasium and instructor in physical education, "Doc" comes in contact with almost every man in school.

Seldom, if ever, has a man captured the friendship of his athletes and his associates as has Dr. Bohm. Possessing a contagious personality, "Doc" is always ready to give a cheerful greeting or lend a helping hand. His office is a rendezvous for the boys who come to get treatment for Charley-horses and twisted knees and incidentally listen to a few stories from "Doc."

Himself a former star athlete in his college days, Dr. Bohm is an inseparable part of Washington State's football, basketball, baseball and track teams. As director of the orthopedic gymnasium he gives expert attention to men who are physically deficient.

Making friends seems to be "Doc's" hobby. He is an inspiration to Washington State athletes in every sense of the word.



A. B. "Buck" Bailey

BIG "Buck" Bailey, of the coaching team of "Babe" and "Buck," is an important unit in Washington State's football success. As line coach, scout, and general "right-hand man," Bailey does his share in putting W. S. C. up in the front rank of Pacific coast football.

A railroad time-table is part of "Buck's" regular equipment, for to him falls the all-important task of scouting future Cougar gridiron rivals. While the Crimson and Gray pigskinners are doing battle on some Northern field, Bailey is usually a thousand or so miles away, getting the dope on future rivals and at the same time hoping that his charges are mauling their way to another victory.

A few years ago the big Texan was playing football himself and was one of the most feared linemen on the Pacific slope. He has lost none of his old ability and can still put on his suit and show his guards and tackles the fine points of football. Coupling all the fire and grit of a natural athlete with a friendly personality, "Buck" is a great favorite with Cougar athletes.

When not coaching football or baseball, "Buck" finds time to indulge in his favorite winter sport, basketball. His hoop team, known far and wide as "Bailey's Bulls," is one of W. S. C.'s outstanding campus aggregations and as a running guard "Buck" is leader of his team and is one of its most consistent point-getters and ground-gainers.

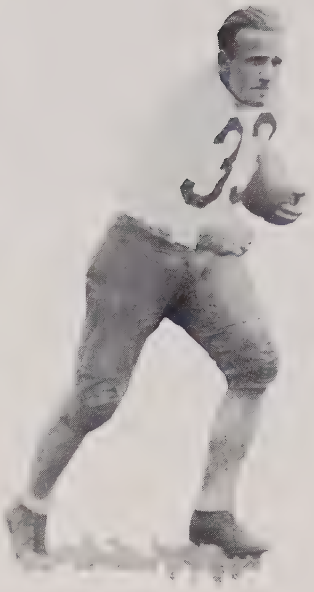
Cougars Halt Eisan in California Tilt



SCHWARTZ
Fullback Second Year

By Henry MacLeod

With ten sparkling victories of the typical W. S. C. variety scattered from the snow-swept battlefields of the north to the warm, balmy gridirons of lazy and romantic Honolulu, Washington State's great 1929 football team went through the most successful gridiron season in the school's 33 years of football competition. Never before had a Cougar team won ten major football games as did Coach "Babe" Hollingbery's hard-driving gridders last fall.

A position below no one in the Northwest Conference "little six" and first division ranking in the Pacific Coast Conference "Big Ten" were the rewards for the Cougars' strong showing. This was the fourth time that Hollingbery has placed his W. S. C. team in the first division of the coast circuit in as many years in Cougartown. Oregon and W. S. C., not meeting each other, both finished with clean slates to lead the northern teams.

After one of the most hectic conference races in history the State team was forced to a position below the California schools and Oregon as a result of a defeat at the hands of U. S. C.'s national champions in the final tilt. By the system of scoring now used in ranking conference teams the Cougars would have won the coast title by a victory over U. S. C., but dropped far down the ladder when they took a 27 to 7 trimming after holding the Trojan army on even terms for the first half.

Starting the season with a big squad of juniors and only a scattering of veterans, the Cougars romped at will through the College of Idaho team to gain a 48 to 0 triumph on Rogers field. A week later Mount St. Charles' tough Irishmen took almost as bad a beating, this time the score being 38 to 0. With only these two minor games under their belts the Staters journeyed to Berkeley, where they suffered their first upset of the year at the hands of California, 14 to 0.

The high spot of a successful season from the standpoint of Cougar supporters was the 20 to 13 trimming handed to Washington's Huskies on Rogers field as the Homecoming feature. A week later the reserves had a field day at the expense of Whitman, with the final count resting at 58 to 6.

W. S. C. win over Oregon State at Portland by a 9 to 0 score. Oregon State later journeyed east to give the University of Detroit her first beating in three and a half years. Following the O. S. C. triumph the Hollingbery men returned to their home field to run rough-shod over Idaho's tottering Vandals in a 41 to 7 debacle.

Another conference scalp was added to the string when Montana bowed to the Cougars, 13 to 0, at Missoula, following which the State team visited Spokane long enough to trounce the air-minded Gonzaga Bulldogs at their own forward passing game by a 27 to 0 score. Then came the heart-breaking U. S. C. defeat after a hard battle.

A post-season series on the far-away Hawaiian Islands netted the Hollingbery disciples two victories. The Honolulu "Townies," an independent team, fell by a 12 to 0 score, while the crack University of Hawaii eleven lost by a 28 to 7 count.

Washington State, 48; College of Idaho, 0

With Fullback "Elmer the Great" Schwartz, leading scorer of the Pacific Coast, crashing through the line in the first five minutes for the initial touchdown of the 1929 campaign, the high scoring Cougars romped at will through the College of Idaho eleven to a 48 to 0 victory on Rogers field, for the first of their ten victories.

No less than 38 players in all were used by Coach Hollingbery during the debacle. Every man on the Cougar squad with the exception of a few crippled gridders got a taste of action before the final score was hung up. After only two weeks of practice the Staters looked ragged in spots, but showed flashes of the power that was to carry them to a new Washington State scoring record.

Carl (Tuffy) Ellingsen, playing his first varsity game after a year on the sidelines due to ineligibility, scampered through the bewildered Coyotes for three touchdowns to lead the Cougar scorers. Schwartz tallied twice, while a touchdown apiece was the contribution of Courtney Melbourne and Oscar Hartley (Cowboy) Jones.

In the line Captain Bud Hansen and Mel Hein, veterans, played bang-up ball, while big Glen Edwards and George Hurley, "Long John's" little brother, were outstanding among the Sophomore linemen.

Washington State, 38; Mount St. Charles, 0

A tough bunch of Irishmen from Mount St. Charles College at Helena, Mont., met a tougher gang of Cougars on Rogers field in the second game of the campaign and fell by a 38 to 0 count. It was sweet revenge for the Staters, who remembered the 1927 game, in which the Saints held the W. S. C. team to a 6 to 6 tie in a big upset.

Forward passes, mixed in with a hard running attack, spelled defeat for the Helena Hilltoppers. Big Elmer Schwartz, playing his second game at fullback after a year as an All-Coast guard, looked every bit as impressive as a ball-toter as he had as a lineman. Three of the State touchdowns were tallied by the plunging Schwartz, with Archie Buckley, Porter Lainhart, and the Sophomore halfback, Emmett (Mutt) Schroeder, each crossing the goal line once.

Carl (Tuffy) Ellingsen gave a fine demonstration of forward passing to the joy of the Cougar supporters, who had not seen a fine passer on a Crimson and Gray eleven for many moons. The Hollingbery men, although not opening up, completed six of their 12 passes and intercepted five engineered by the Saints.

Brilliant work by Brace, a Mount St. Charles' lad who was everything his name implies, brightened up the game. George Hill and Sam Hansen, W. S. C. wingmen, played good ball for the winners. The Staters scored twice in the first period, once in the second, were held scoreless in the third, and came back strong to tally three times in the final session.

Attacking skillfully through the air after their running attack had been stopped cold, the California Golden Bears tripped up the hard-fighting Cougars by a 14 to 0 count at Berkeley in the first conference game of the season for both elevens.

Both California scores came in the first half, but in the second session the situation was reversed and the Hollingbery men carried the fight to the home gridders. The play was all in California's territory, often dangerously near their unspiked goal line, but the Cougars lacked the drive to score.

A series of forward passes quickly put the Golden Bears on the State one-yard line, where the powerful Cougar defense stopped them in their tracks. The visitors took the ball on downs, but a short time later California scored on a 33-yard pass from Lom to Eisan. Another pass, this time Barr to Rice, ended the scoring for the day.

The Cougars gained plenty of respect, but no scores, for their aggressive work. Archie Buckley, slippery quarterback, brought the 40,000 fans to their feet with a 65-yard return of one of Lom's kicks. Buck was away to a touchdown when nailed from behind by Pitto, Golden Bear guard. Time and again Ellingsen and Schwartz scampered for long gains, but not enough to reach the coveted scoring ground.

Little Lee Eisan and Benny Lom, both former players under Hollingbery in San Francisco, starred in the California attack, while the two Golden Bear guards, Schwarz and Pitto, were powerful on defense. George Hill, end, and Harold Ahlskog, tackle, played fine ball for the Cougars, while Ellingsen and Schwartz, with their sensational passing and ball toting, and Buckley, with his long returns of punts, gave the Southern fans many a thrill.

Washington State, 20; Washington, 13

The one victory that makes or breaks any Washington State football campaign came as a glorious climax to the annual Homecoming program as the hard-driving Cougars trampled Washington under a 20 to 13 score. The triumph was a remarkable comeback after the defeat suffered at Berkeley a short week before and the Staters' cup was filled to overflowing by the trimming administered to the ancient Cougar foe, the Husky of Washington.

It was Elmer "The Great" Schwartz, plunging fullback, and little Archie Buckley, dynamic field general, who led the Cougars to victory in as thrilling a comeback as historic Rogers field has ever seen. After Washington had scored two touchdowns on forward passes to Johnnie Geehan, Buckley was sent into the fray and it was his fiery work that snapped the Cougars out of their lethargy and brought them victory.

As soon as Archie brought the drive and fight back into the Cougar machine the tide turned. Schwartz, who hammered the Washington defense for all three W. S. C. touchdowns, scored the first State points when he scampered some 11 yards across the goal line on a Statue of Liberty play. A few minutes later the half ended with Washington in the van by a 13 to 7 score.

Unleashing a vicious attack in the second half the Hollingbery men ripped Washington's defense to shreds with forward passes from Ellingsen and terrific line plunging by Schwartz. The pile-driving fullback tied the score on a fake reverse, crashing through the right side of the Washington line. Buckley put his team in the lead with the converted point. The 15,000 Homecoming fans were in a frenzy of excitement as the Cougars hammered the Husky line for long gains.

To put the game on ice Lyle Maskell, State end, intercepted a Washington pass in the fourth period and ran it back into scoring territory, where Schwartz again crashed through for the final touchdown.

Schwartz Carries the Ball in California Game

To Buckley and Schwartz go the honors, but every man on the W. S. C. team deserves credit for his share in the brilliant victory. Mel Hein, Captain Bud Hansen, and the rest of the Cougar linemen, played fine football, while in the backfield Ellingsen, Jones, and Melbourne cleared the way for Schwartz's powerful line plunging. Geehan, quarterback, and Merle Hufford, Sophomore halfback, were outstanding for the Huskies in the backfield, with another Sophomore, Paul Schwegler, looming up as a tower of strength in the line.

Washington State, 58; Whitman, 6

While the first string players rested up after the Homecoming victory, the reserves staged a field day at the expense of the Whitman College Missionaries. Nine touchdowns for a total of 58 points were rolled up by the Cougars while the visitors managed to score a lone touchdown as the long shadows were creeping over Rogers field at the close of the game.

Coach Hollingbery's reserves had things their own way most of the time, although his regulars did go into the fray long enough to fatten their individual scoring averages. Nearly every man on the Cougar squad got his chance to perform against the visitors from Walla Walla. An intercepted pass in the dying minutes of the game gave Whitman her lone score and saved her from a shutout.

Another page in Washington State's football history was written as Coach Hollingbery's gridders whitewashed the powerful Oregon State College eleven at Portland by a 9 to 0 score. The victory boosted W. S. C. stock materially, for the Beavers had a strong aggregation on the field in 1929.

A 46-yard field goal—the first of the year for any conference player on the Pacific Coast—was booted by Archie Buckley as the feature of the afternoon. Some 20,000 Portland fans went through the turnstiles to see a powerful W. S. C. team turn back the Oregon State assault and then score nine points for victory.

A 40-yard pass whipped far over the O. S. C. safety man straight into the arms of "Long John" Hurley by Ellingsen put the Staters in the lead in the first half. From then on it was a great battle between two evenly matched teams until Buckley's long field goal boosted the score to nine—the same total Washington State scored the year before in defeating the Beavers at Homecoming, although that time the final count was 9 to 7.

Coach Hollingbery's "iron man" team played throughout the game with but three substitutions, two reserve ends and a tackle substitution being made late in the fourth period. On the other hand Oregon State used a constant string of substitutes in an effort to turn the tide of the game. The victory entrenched the Cougars in the lead for Northern Division honors.

Washington State, 41; Idaho, 7

Unleasing a powerful scoring attack after a listless 7-7 first half, Coach Hollingbery's gridders ran rough shod over the Idaho Vandals to the tune of 41 to 7. Five touchdowns were tallied by the Cougars in a veritable scoring orgy in the second half.

Elmer Schwartz touchdowned himself into a comfortable lead in the Coast Conference scoring race when he pounded the Vandals for three scores during the afternoon. His first touch down came early in the first period and was followed by a powerful counter attack by Wilkie, fullback, and Pederson, flashy quarter, that tied the score at 7 to 7, where it remained till the end of the half.

Cougar stock was comparatively low as the second session opened, but went up a few points as Ellingsen skirted the Vandal left end for a 67-yard journey to a touchdown. This started the procession and before the game ended Schwartz had twice plunged across the Idaho goal line, and Buckley and Ellingsen had each added another tally to his string.

In the Cougar line Ahlskog, Hein and Edwards played their usual strong games, while the entire backfield functioned well enough to score six touchdowns. Waldemar Pederson, Idaho's "Galloping Swede," and Fred Wilkie, fullback, starred for Idaho, as did Kirkpatrick, center, and Dittman, wingman.

Running into unexpectedly stiff opposition, the Staters were forced to the limit to trim Montana's fighting Grizzly pack, 13 to 0, in a conference game at Missoula. The Cougars were rushed off their feet in the first half, which ended in a scoreless tie.

The Missoulans had heard of Elmer Schwartz before, but they got a close-up of him in action as he pounded through the Grizzlies for two touchdowns in the second half. In the opening minutes of the third period the Cougars took the ball on the Montana 45-yard line. On the first play Schwartz hit the center of the line for 17 yards and on the next play he lugged the ball 28 yards to the winning touchdown. Play was fairly even till late in the game when Schwartz intercepted a Montana pass and raced 60 yards to the final score.

The Grizzlies caused Coach Hollingbery's men no end of trouble. Morrow, Montana quarter, gave the Cougars a bad jolt at the very beginning when he returned Buckley's kickoff 72 yards. All through the game the Montanans kept the Cougars worried and threatened their goal line several times.

Converting Gonzaga's far-famed passing attack into a powerful weapon of their own, Coach Hollingbery's Cougars staged a scoring bee at the expense of the Gonzaga Bulldogs at Spokane, winning in a walk, 27 to 0. Cold weather and a fast, frozen field added spice to the game, but slightly inconvenienced the players.

Led by the fleet, plunging halfback, Oscar Hartley Jones, the Staters upset the dope and spoiled an afternoon for the Gonzaga supporters. Gonzaga's aerial attack, which had spelled defeat for Idaho the week before, turned into a boomerang as Jones intercepted one of Hunting's heaves in the first quarter and ran 40 yards to the one-foot mark, from where Ellingsen scored.

In the second quarter Jones rambled 20 yards on a fake criss-cross to score, but the ball was called back and W. S. C. penalized 15 yards. His ire aroused, Jones recrossed the Gonzaga goal line on a pass from Ellingsen on the very next play. The high scoring Schwartz scored the third touchdown, with Jones accounting for the last tally. Again the entire Washington State squad was used by Coach Hollingbery.

With the championship of the Pacific Coast Conference at stake, the mighty Trojan army of Southern California defeated a game and fighting Washington State team at Los Angeles, 27 to 7. The fracas officially ended the conference season and established U. S. C. in undisputed possession of the championship.

The Trojans won only after a terrific battle. Washington State's small band of gridders from the faraway Northland outplayed the Southern Californians in the first period and held them on even terms in the second session. The last half saw a constant string of Trojan substitutes wear down the Staters and change a battle into a rout for the winners.

The Cougars scored first. Schwartz lugged the ball 10 yards to the 43-yard line, where Ellingsen whipped an 18-yard pass to Jones. The rambling Oscar then went unmolested 25 yards to the touchdown. Southern California knotted the score when Duffield, slippery quarterback, scored on a ten-yard off-tackle run. The half ended with the count still 7 to 7.

With Saunders and Duffield running wild through the battered Cougars, the Trojans scored three times in the second half. Tappaan and Arbelbide, ends, also starred for the winners. Schwartz, Jones and Mel Hein were outstanding for the Cougars.

Before leaving their Island paradise to sail the trackless waters back to their northern stronghold, the W. S. C. voyagers filled their holiday cup to overflowing in defeating the crack University of Hawaii football team on New Year's Day, 28 to 7. The Islanders were amazed to see the invaders trim the Rainbows, the pride of Hawaiian football, in the worst defeat the U. of H. eleven has suffered in many years.

With Schwartz and Buckley out of the game with injuries, the Rainbows expected to have things all their own way, but they slipped up when they failed to consider Melbourne, Jones, Lainhart and Ellingsen. These ball-toters tallied three times in the second period to put the game away.

The Rainbows flashed their power in the third quarter when they marched 66 yards down the field to score. Again in the fourth period they unleashed an attack that carried them to the 2-yard line, where the Cougars braced and took the ball on downs. A moment later Porter Lainhart crashed through the Hawaiian's line and raced 83 yards to the final score of the season.

The victory over the Rainbows climaxed the greatest season in State football history and hung up a new record of 10 games won for future crimson and gray gridders to shoot at. Seven of Coach Hollingbery's most dependable gridders wound up their collegiate football careers last fall. Four guards, a tackle, and two backfield men have played their last football for Washington State.

sen and Flechsig had put in three years of consistent service, while Docka was a two-year letterman and Jensen a one-year winner. Ralph (Roughhouse) Riley, the scrappy Irish tackle, completed his third year as a mainstay in the line. Archie Buckley, one of the most brilliant field generals in State football history, and Courtney Melbourne, hard running ball carrier, both made their final bow in college football under the warm Hawaiian sunshine.

Washington State 12; Honolulu Townies, 0

A holiday "football ship," flying a crimson and gray banner, cast anchor in the port of Honolulu long enough for its captain and crew of Washington State football players to spend a glorious two weeks amid the waving palms and tropical breezes of dreamy Hawaii and incidentally win a couple of football games from the best the Islands can produce in the way of gridders.

A 12 to 0 triumph over the Honolulu Townies was the Christmas Day present the Cougars sent home to their supporters. Three periods of straight driving football left the teams in a scoreless tie, so the invaders were forced to resort to forward passes and a little strategy in the dying minutes of the game to win. The loss of Elmer Schwartz and Archie Buckley through injuries early in the game weakened the State attack.

The ancient Statue of Liberty play, with rambling Oscar "Cowboy" Jones carrying the ball, scored the winning touchdown early in the fourth period. A series of forward passes and lateral passes carried the ball down the field again, with Courtney Melbourne, fullback, crashing the line for the final score.

All-Coast Selections

LED by Elmer "The Great" Schwartz and Captain "Bud" Hansen, the Cougars placed more than their share of players on mythical all-star teams, ranging from All-American to All-Northwest. Besides Captain Hansen and Schwartz, the Staters were represented by Archie Buckley, Mel Hein, Harold Ahlskog, John Hurley and Carl Ellingsen on the various all-star aggregations.

Schwartz was among the few western players named by the New York Sun in their annual selections. He was awarded a bronze medal by the Sun for honorable mention. "Elmer the Great" was an almost unanimous choice for All-Coast fullback, while Captain Hansen was listed on a big share of the mythical elevens.

The Associated Press All-Northwest team included Schwartz as fullback, Buckley as quarter, Hansen as guard, and Hurley as end. The All-Coast team named by George Varnell, sports editor of the Seattle Times and veteran football official, included Schwartz as fullback, with Bud Hansen placed as guard on the second team. Both Mel Hein and Schwartz were placed on "Pop" Warner's third all-coast team.

At the close of the season Coach Hollingbery named his choices for All-Coast honors, picking Tappaan of U. S. C. and Norton of California as ends; Anthony of U. S. C. and Diehl of Idaho as tackles; Schwarz of California and Barrager of U. S. C. as guards, and Hein of Washington State as center. In the backfield were Saunders of U. S. C., Lom of California, Kitzmiller of Oregon and Schwartz of Washington State.

Scoring 14 touchdowns during the season, Schwartz led all Pacific Coast conference players in total points scored. With his 84 points he led Russ Saunders, U. S. C.'s far-famed racehorse, by 12 points. Phil Moffatt, leader of "Pop" Warner's Stanford pack, was third with 64 counters, followed by Marshall Duffield, U. S. C.'s quarterback. Close behind was Carl (Tuffy) Ellingsen, Washington State halfback, while the last of the "Big Six" was Bobby Robinson, Oregon's colored flash.

Freshman Football

WINNING three of their four big games, the Cougar first year gridders, under the able leadership of Coach Karl Schlademan, romped through a successful season to imitate their big brothers, the Cougar varsity, in the matter of winning football games. The yearling third stringers, playing while the first and second teams were going after bigger prizes on road trips, split their two games.

A hard earned 6 to 0 triumph over the Washington frosh at Seattle capped a successful season for the Cougar first year gridders. In a sea of typical Puget Sound mud and rain Coach Schlademan's boys slipped and splashed through the youthful Bagshaw disciples to gain the verdict in their "big game" of the year. Pete Graham, younger brother of Jack (Brick) Graham, Cougar center in 1926-27-28, was outstanding for the Kittens in the line, while Mentor Dahlen, flashy quarterback, and Howard Moses, hard-hitting halfback, carried the brunt of the offense.

The first game of the season saw the green-cap boys make their debut into collegiate grid circles with a 7 to 0 win over Cheney Normal. A sensational 65-yard run in the opening period by Moses paved the way for the winning touchdown. Both teams played ragged football, with frequent substitutions.

A trip to Ellensburg for the second game of the campaign netted the yearlings a 7 to 0 defeat at the hands of the experienced Ellensburg Normal eleven for their lone trimming of the year. The Teachers, with one of the best independent clubs in the Northwest, and coached by Roy Sandberg, former W. S. C. athlete, had their hands full in trouncing the Kittens, due to a fine exhibition of punting by Moses and good ball-toting by the consistent Dahlen.

The first-year men went on a scoring spree at the expense of the Idaho yearlings in the third tilt of the season. All the State ball-carriers had their fling and four touchdowns were tallied before the final gun. The final count was 25 to 0, with nearly all of Coach Schlademan's gridders getting a taste of action during the fray.

While the first and second stringers were on their jaunt to Ellensburg the frosh "B" squad, under Coach H. H. House and Lloyd (Rosy) Hein, entertained the Gonzaga froshers. The Bullpups won by a 13 to 0 score, due mainly to the powerful play of one Max Krause, Gonzaga fullback. The "B" squad boys gained an even break for their season by trimming North Central high, Spokane city champs, by a 13 to 7 count.

A quartet of promising backfield men were developed by Coach Schlademan in Dahlen, Moses, Sander and Davis. Dahlen is a fast, aggressive quarterback, while Moses is a slashing halfback who ranks above the average as a punter. Sander and Davis both turned in good performances in the backfield, as did Antonette and Linden. In the line Graham, Homer Hein, Phillips, Bishop and Senn did good work.

Jack Friel

Varsity Basketball Coach

SINGULAR successes have marked the meteoric rise of Jack Friel, the "native son" Cougar basketball coach. Friel, a former player with an envious record at Washington State in the years of 1921 to 1923, has in two years time at the State institution hoisted the Cougars from the lowest to next to the highest in the Pacific Northwest Conference.

Coming to Washington State in 1928, Friel was confronted with the problem of developing a basketball team, a rather difficult deed to do. But in his first year of tutoring the Crimson and Gray basketeers, Friel "made good," and placed a first division berth team on the floor.

Friel's supreme moment came in the 1929-30 season, after he had started in the campaign with a few reverses, and a few scattered wins. Not content with just placing in the upper half of the league, the Cougar mentor chased his men into second place final standing of the conference.

Although the former Cougar athlete should be jubilant over the prospects of the coming year with several veterans back, he remains somewhat dubious, and predicts that all the teams will have improved, and that he will take no chances of overconfidence, either on his part or on that of the squad.

As a token of appreciation to the successful manner in which he conducted the quintet the past season, Friel was presented with a three-year service gray "W" sweater at the Associated Student Body meeting, March 25, by members of his Washington State Basketball five.

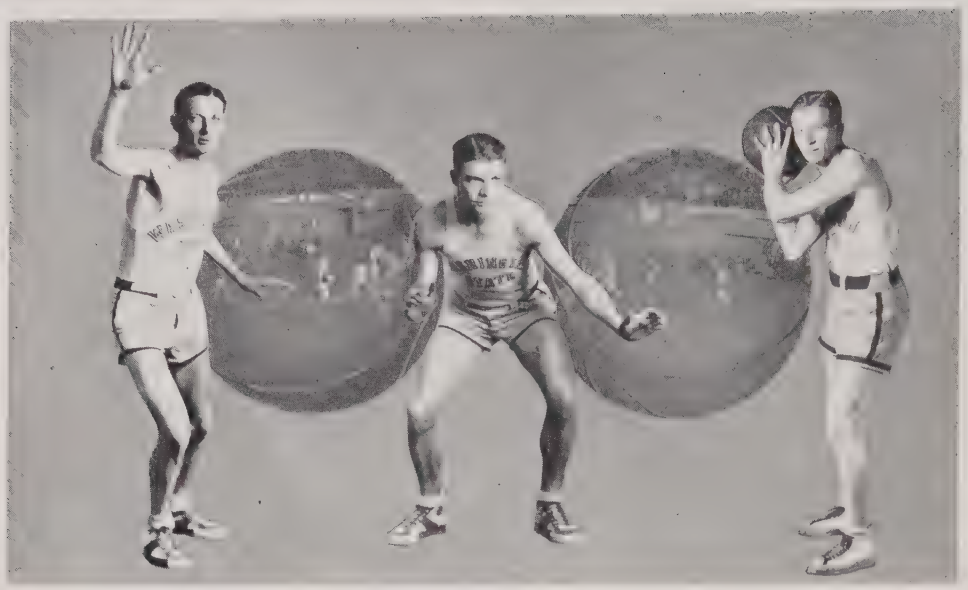
Varsity Basketball

THE 1929-30 Washington State basketball season was ushered in with several non-conference games of which the "dark horse" Cougars made the most of in preparation for the race-track Coast conference schedule that was to follow. Entering the campaign with several sophomores on his first string line-up, Coach Jack Friel was dubious as to the outcome of the title battle, but as the season progressed Friel discovered that his first year varsity men were the main cogs of his machine, and figured prominently in the fight that Cougars made for honor berths in the final standing. Although the State cagers failed to garner the championship from the driving Huskies, they fought their way to second place in the final rating. Twenty-six tilts comprised the Washington State aggregation's conference and non-conference program, and of this group, the Staters managed to clip off an excessively fat 50% number of victories. The total number of wins reached 14, and the losses numbered 12. In non-conference fracases, the Frielmen were trounced five times, and were victorious in the same number of tilts. While in the heat of conference competition the Cougars seemed to be more obsessed with the cause, and copped nine out of sixteen performances to finish with an attractive average of .562. They were closely tagged by the Oregon Webfoots, who terminated the campaign with a .500 tally. The respective quintets of the Northwest Conference wound up the season in the following order: University of Washington, first; Washington State, second; University of Oregon, third; Oregon State, fourth; and University of Idaho, fifth.



McLARNEY HOLSTEN BUCKLEY

A UNIQUE side-light on the varsity hoop game may be seen in the spectacular point-getting race as staged by Art McLarney, guard, and Claud Holsten, forward, both sophomores. Until the last game of the season, both cagers were neck-and-neck with 125 points each to their credit in conference scoring. In the last tilt of the season with the Idaho Vandals, Holsten gathered in 12 points to boost his total to 137, while McLarney looped in 11 counters, to climax his first year of varsity basketball with 136 points. This pair of sophomores placed third and fourth, respectively, in the final individual scoring column of the conference. In addition to this, McLarney was named as guard on the first team of the all-conference mythical five, and Holsten as forward on the second squad of the same selection.

The season proper opened for the Cougars with a non-conference quintet, Mount St. Charles, as the opposition, on the local floor, Dec. 17. The Staters trounced the Saints 43 to 27 in a fast game, which gave an inkling as to the strength that the Cougars would show later on in the season. On the night following the Crimson and Gray men again whipped the Montanans, 44 to 29.

In the first game away from home, the Washington State horde was victorious over the Whitman Missionaries, 31 to 20. In the second clash, led by "Pudgy" Applegate, who gathered in eight points, the Walla Walla boys handed the Frielmen their first loss of the year, 26 to 17.

Ellensburg Normal whirled into Pullman December 27 to clash with the slipping Staters, but stole out the next day with a 29 to 23 defeat on its hands.

The first game that necessitated an overtime period, occurred against the Gonzaga University, December 28, in the Washington State gym. At the final whistle, both teams were deadlocked at 33-all. Two converted foul shots in this period by the Bulldogs brought their score up to 35 points, enough to whip the Cougars with their 33 counters. Two nights later, the State College pack got a sweet 35 to 27 revenge from the Whitmanites on the home floor.

On the first conference road trip of the schedule the Cougarmen ran rampant to score three victories out of four starts from the Oregon schools. The University of Oregon five was the first to taste of Washington warfare when it dropped a 32 to 30 tilt to the Staters. The second game of the double game series was disappointing for the Pullmanites who lost a thriller, 34 to 32. The next two affairs were with the Oregon State crew who lost both games to the pounding Cougars. The first fracas came to a close with a score of 40 to 27 in favor of the Staters, and the second, 28 to 27, the nod going to the Cougars. "Long Gene" Endslow starred in this campaign by garnering 35 points in the four games.

Cougars Piling Up an Impressive Score Against Idaho

HEIN PESCO NUGENT

That old spark of traditional rivalry brightened up in the first clash against the Idaho Vandals in the Cougar gym, January 18, the first meeting of the two teams this year. After an hilarious first half, which ended 19 to 9, in favor of the Idahoans, Coach Friel sent his fighting five in for the second half, and they emerged victorious, 36 to 29. This tilt was probably the most thrilling of any during the entire program. In the interval between this affair and the next Vandal clash, the University of Montana overwhelmed the Cougars 54 to 24, the worst pasting that the latter suffered in the entire season. The Vandals made up for the drubbing handed them a few days earlier by besting the Cougars, 23 to 22, in their own back yard.

The Seattle trip to meet the Huskies didn't pan out so well for the Washington State basketeers in the two-game series that followed. The first contest ended in a 29-29 tie, but the overtime period resulted in three additional points for the Huskies, the final score being 32 to 29. Washington paddled the Cougars, 35 to 19, on the following night.

The University of Montana Grizzlies stormed into Pullman in quest of victory, and they got what they wanted. They rolled out of the Cougar lair with a 32 to 23 counter scalp tucked away in their belts. Gonzaga squeezed out a narrow 34 to 33 win February 28 over the Staters in Spokane.

Washington tooted its way into the State camp, and split a pair of games with the recuperating Frielmen. The Huskies copped the first meeting, 24 to 21, and the Washington State loopers retaliated the next night by whipping the league-leading Seattleites, 29 to 26. Oregon, however, came back the next night and ran around the Cougars to score 35 points while the local casaba artists were able to counter only 21.

Oregon State was the next victim of the Cougars, falling by the wayside, 28 to 25, in the first gonfalon of the series. True to the Cougars' code of ethics, they allowed the invaders to even matters in the following game, by dropping a close 27 to 29 tilt to the Orangemen.

Not until the last two battles of the 1930 season did the Washington State band show the zip and fire that was so evident earlier in the season. In these two debacles against Idaho, Washington State ran wild to win the first encounter, 36 to 29, on the home floor. On the next night, March 1, Idaho tried to avenge themselves on its own court, but their efforts were in vain, the Cougars winning easily, 47 to 24. This last victory cinched Washington State's hold on second place.

Basketball fans saw for the last time, little Archie Buckley play his last game for Washington State. Buckley was an outstanding man on the floor, who was always good for several points and for bundles of spirit. Len Mitchell, center, finished his third year of competition this season, although he was handicapped with illness and an over-abundance of competition for the pivot position.

Bob Van Tuyl, Phil Pesco, Gene Endslow and Carl Ellingsen were graduated into the second year veteran rank. Although Van Tuyl and Endslow were the only regulars of the group, all four figured prominently in the Cougars' race for second place.

New faces on the team were those of several sophomores, and one a "find" of the junior class. Art McLarney, guard, Claud Holsten, forward, Ralph Carlton, forward, and Jimmy Nugent, forward, are the new members of the team, and all showed promise of winning many more games for Washington State before they hang up the rubber-soled shoes.

Mel Hein is the junior who came to Friel's rescue in his search for someone to strengthen the center position. Hein was found in the intramural ranks, and in his first year of varsity competition played sensational ball for the Staters. Hein and Endslow alternated at center, giving Friel strength galore at the tip-off job.

Third year lettermen are: Archie Buckley, forward; Len Mitchell, center; second year—Gene Endslow, center; Phil Pesco, guard: Bob Van Tuyl, guard; first year—Claud Holsten, forward; Art McLarney, guard; Mel Hein, center; Jimmy Nugent, forward, and Ralph Carlton, forward.

All-Coast Basketball Selection

ANOTHER Cougar athlete was honored mythically when Art McLarney, sophomore basketball star, was named on the All-Pacific Coast five. He was chosen for a guard berth, by "Doc" J. F. Bohler, head of the Cougar physical education department, and the final selector of conference choices.

Earlier in the year, McLarney was placed on the Northwest quintet by the respective coaches of the Northwest schools. He was named on the first team, and his running mate, Claud Holsten, another sophomore, garnered a berth as forward on the second selection.

McLarney, always carefully guarded by opposing teams, would be the very punch and drive of the 1930 Cougar games. He would emerge from the tilts either as high scorer or one of the high individual point-getters. The race waxed hot between the two classmates, Holsten and McLarney, with the former edging McLarney out at the end of the season by a one-point margin.

With two years of varsity ball before him, McLarney should be a deciding factor in holding Washington State basketball far in the front. Not only is the sensational sophomore an outstanding find in basketball, but is also one of the high spots of present baseball history at Washington State. He is an exceptionally competent shortstop, and bat-wielder of no mean ability.

Freshman Basketball

SCORING a total of 578 points to the opposition's 327; defeating all comers except one and that by a one-point margin, was the outstanding record of the yearling basketeers.

Fifteen fracases comprised the frosh schedule, and carried them to the coast on a barnstorming tour. The trip was highly successful with the exception of the Centralia Junior College quintet which turned back the baby Cougars 27 to 26. Other fives to fall before the mighty onslaught of the Babes were, the Olympia Ramblers, Washington Frosh, and Yakima Junior College.

All the home games were taken with comparative ease, as was the case of most of the fourteen tilts won. Exceptional talent along the basketball line was discovered during the season. Several men stand out as likely prospects for Coach Jack Friel's coming varsity.

The numeral men of the season were: Joe Caraher, Robert Cross, Charles Devine, Ernest Erickson, Huntley Gordon, Clarence Graham, James McClaskey, Leighton Powell, Harold Stoller, and Kenneth Wills. Don MacDonald, assistant basketball coach, tutored the yearling hoopsters.

Varsity Baseball

With a dozen games of good baseball sandwiched in between a ragged start and a mediocre finish, the Washington State baseball nine went through a fairly successful and highly sensational season, winning 12 games and losing eight for a percentage of .600. The Cougars were barely nosed out at the finish for the Northwest conference championship.

A change in the formation of the conference did away with the old eastern and western divisions and combined W. S. C., Washington, Oregon, Oregon State and Idaho in a five-man league, thus omitting Montana from the former loop. Coach Buck Bailey's pastimers made a clean sweep of the four-game series with Oregon, 1928 champions; won two and lost two to Oregon State; won one and lost two to Idaho; won one and lost three to Washington and won four out of five from Whitman.

The sensational work of four rookie players had a big share in the Cougar victories. Oscar Jones, relief ace, and Hilding Nelson, southpaw hurler, both did good work on the mound, while Maynard (Swede) Lundberg and Marvin Koster developed into hard hitting outfielders in their first season of conference play. Jones was the iron man of the W. S. C. mound staff, pitching in 15 of the 20 games.

A veteran quartet of Teddy Rohwer, first base; Guy DiJulio, second base; Archie Buckley, third base, and Harvey Cole, shortstop, held down the infield assignment during the season. Rohwer, Cole and DiJulio all finished their college baseball careers after three years of brilliant work under Bailey. Eddie McDowell and Ted Cragin, pitchers, and

Oscar Jones, Pitcher, Circles the Diamond

Don Buzzard, catcher, also wound up their baseball careers in the college circuit. Frank Mitchell, ex-frosh receiver, did good work behind the bat in alternating with Buzzard and Adams.

The first string lineup included Rohwer, first base; DiJulio, second base; Buckley, third base; Cole, shortstop; Earl Mitchell, center field; Koster, left field, and Lundberg, right field. Damon did utility work in the outfield. The pitching staff was made up of Nelson, Jones, McDowell, Cragin and Warden, with F. Mitchell, Buzzard and Adams working behind the bat.

STATERS COP 14-INNING TILT FROM WHITMAN

Running into stiff opposition in their opening game, Coach Buck Bailey's Cougars copped a 14-inning tilt from the Whitman College nine at Walla Walla, 4 to 2. The Missionaries gave the W. S. C. team a stiff battle, but the Cougars' untried recruits came through with colors flying.

A costly Whitman error allowed the Staters to tie the score in the ninth after they had trailed, 2 to 1. They battled on even terms till the fourteenth, when Jones walked, Lundberg doubled and both scored on Buckley's long single. Eddie McDowell, veteran hurler, started for the Cougars and was relieved by Oscar Jones, the Sophomore chucker who developed into the best relief hurler in the conference.

Varsity Baseball Coach

Starting the season with a rookie outfield and only two experienced pitchers, Coach A. B. (Buck) Bailey moulded a winning combination which came within a few points of winning the conference pennant. The Cougars played great ball under Bailey during the main part of the season and would have won the crown except for two defeats at the hands of Washington in the final series of the year. In his three years as Cougar baseball coach, "Buck" has had better than average success and has developed several outstanding players.

COUGARS DOWN MISSIONARIES IN DOUBLE-HEADER

Making a clean sweep of the three-game series the Cougars trounced the Whitman Missionaries in both ends of a double-header the following day, winning the opener, 6 to 5, and whitewashing Coach Nig Borleske's pastimers, 5 to 0, in the nightcap.

Ten errors by the Whitman team, combined with timely hitting and effective pitching, accounted for the Cougars' double win. Teddy Rohwer, State first sacker, hung up his first home run of the year in the first inning of the first game when he clouted one of Clove's shoots out of the park after Koster had doubled. Despite Rohwer's blow, it took a sensational four-run rally in the ninth inning to win the fracas.

A two-hit performance by Ted Cragin in the third game made things easy for the Cougars. The Missionaries again faltered in the field and the State sluggers took advantage of the errors to sew up the game.

WASHINGTON STATE LOSES FIRST CONFERENCE TILT

After their impressive sweep of the three-game series with Whitman the Cougars faltered in their 1929 conference opener and dropped a loosely played tilt to Idaho at Moscow, 10 to 9. Poor pitching and wobbly support paved the way for the downfall of the Cougars, although they outhit their opponents.

A wild ninth inning rally that saw four runs patter over the plate nearly brought the tilt out of the fire for the Staters, but a double play by the fast-working Idaho infield cut the rally short and saved the day for the Vandals. McDowell, Cragin and Jones all worked on the mound for the Cougars, while Judy went the entire route for the winners. Rohwer, Earl Mitchell and Cole, veterans, and Maynard (Swede) Lundberg, rookie outfielder, gathered in a big share of W. S. C.'s 11 bingles.

IDAHO PULLS REPEATER

Changing the battlefront to Rogers field did not help the tottering Cougars, who bowed to the slugging Vandals in the second game of their home-and-home series, 11 to 8. Again it was poor fielding and not weak hitting that put the skids under the State nine.

Kerm Warden, State hurler, opposed "Whitey" Lawrence, ace of the Vandal mound staff, in a pitchers' battle until the fifth inning, when the Idaho hitters solved Warden's shoots and chased in five runs to send Warden to the showers and sew up the game. Another belated ninth inning rally was staged by the Cougars with a salvo of hits by Koster, Lundberg and Rohwer, but again the Idaho infield tightened up to stop the W. S. C. attack and save the game.

ROHWER'S HOMERS FAIL TO WIN HUSKY GAME

Despite two mighty home run clouts by Teddy Rohwer, Cougar clean-up hitter, the State nine lost its third straight conference game in bowing to Washington, 5 to 4, in the series opener at Seattle. An eight inning rally by the Huskies snatched the game out of the fire after the W. S. C. nine had apparently won.

Kerm Warden started on the hillock for the Bailey clan and hurled good ball until the fatal eighth, when he was relieved by Oscar Jones. It was Jones' third relief act in as many games.

BAILEY'S NINE TAKES FIRST WIN FROM U. OF W.

Washington State's slugging crew won its first conference tilt of the season and gained an even break in its series with Washington by upsetting the Huskies in their own park, 5 to 3, in a well-played game. The victory was garnered after three successive trimmings at the hands of Washington and Idaho.

Sensational pitching by Hilding Nelson, rookie southpaw, in his first start as a varsity hurler, won the game for the Cougars. Nelson pitched a no-hit game until the seventh inning, when the Huskies reached him for three singles after two were out. Oscar Jones relieved him late in the game and ran his string of conference pitching performances to four in a row.

OREGON IS NEXT TO BE NUMBERED

Oregon's Webfoots, favorites for the conference championship, were tripped up by the Cougars in the first game of their series at Eugene, 8 to 4. It was Oregon's first defeat of the season and boosted Washington State's stock materially.

Eddie McDowell, veteran State chucker, pitched an air-tight game, allowing but two scratch hits in the eight innings he worked, before being relieved by Jones. Six errors by the Webfoots, bunched with 10 solid blows off McDonald, Fuller and Schoeni, gave the Bailey men eight runs to trim the 1928 champions.

STATERS KEEP WINNING STRIDE

The fast traveling Cougars made a clean sweep of the two-game series with the University of Oregon nine, winning from the Webfoots on their home diamond, 6 to 4. Ted Cragin and Oscar Jones silenced the Oregon artillery while their mates were rapping out nine bingles.

The 1928 conference champs loaded the bases three times during the tilt, but tight fielding by the Cougar pastimers kept them from scoring. The Staters grabbed a two-run lead in the third inning with Buckley and Lundberg scoring and from then were never headed.

In a spectacular, free-hitting ball game, the traveling Cougars lost to Oregon State at Corvallis by a 14 to 7 count. The score was tied, seven to seven, in the seventh inning, but the Beavers' heavy artillery swung into action in the last two innings to score seven more runs and win the game.

The victory pushed O. S. C. up into the first division of the conference and broke the Cougars' winning streak of three straight games over Washington and Oregon. Earl Mitchell, veteran center fielder, laced out a home run to lead the Cougar hitting attack.

Landing on three Oregon State pitchers for nine runs, the Bailey clan copped an easy 9 to 5 victory over the Beavers on their home lot. Coach Buck Bailey's men had a field day at the expense of three of the visiting hurlers, 13 hits, including three home runs, being collected during the afternoon's spree.

Hilding Nelson, rookie portsider, pitched a steady game until the seventh when Oscar Jones, relief ace, relieved him and finished the game. Home runs by Guy DiJulio, Ted Rohwer and Earl Mitchell, the latter's with the bases crammed, featured the afternoon's performance.

ERRORS COST STATE NINE VICTORY

A three hit performance by Nightingale, Oregon State's wee pitching ace, coupled with eight costly errors by the State nine, gave the visitors an easy 10 to 3 triumph in the opening game of the interscholastic week-end sports calendar.

Nine of the winners' runs were unearned, a four-ply smash by Bill Quayle, shortstop, accounting for their only earned marker. McDowell, Jones and Cragin labored on the mound while the State College infielders were kicking the ball all over the lot.

STATERS WIN FINAL FROM BEAVERS, 5 TO 4

A story-book finish in the last half of the ninth inning gave Washington State a thrilling 5 to 4 victory over Oregon State on Rogers field in the final game of the season between the rival teams.

Two rookie players, Hilding Nelson, pitcher, and Marvin Koster, outfielder, were the heroes of the Cougar victory. Nelson pitched a steady game, allowing the visiting sluggers only six scattered hits, and it was Koster's screaming double in the ninth inning that scored two runs and broke up the ball game. Nelson struck out seven men. Howard Maple, Oregon State's roly-poly backstop and leading hitter of the conference, failed to touch Nelson's slants.

COUGARS SPIRAL INTO CONFERENCE LEAD

The heavy hitting Staters rocketed into the lead in the Northwest conference by scoring a smashing 13 to 11 victory over Oregon on Rogers field in the third game of the season between the two clubs. The lead see-sawed back and forth until the seventh inning when Bailey's pastimers tallied three times to put the game on ice.

Ted Rohwer, veteran first sacker, had a big day at the plate, collecting a home run, a triple and a double in five trips to the plate. Twenty-two hits in all were gathered during the game which lasted nearly three hours and saw errors and flukes play a big part in the final score.

OSCAR JONES WINS FAVOR IN OREGON GAMES

Washington State's league leading nine made a clean sweep of the four-game series with Oregon, winning the final tilt, 6 to 5, on Rogers field. Another hair-raising ninth inning rally won the game for the Cougars after Oregon had tied the score in the first half of the ninth when Edwards, big first baseman, stole home after two were out.

Oscar Jones, relief hurling ace, was the hero of the afternoon. Besides pitching good ball in the closing innings, Jones singled, stole second base and scored the winning run in the last half of the ninth inning.

WHITMAN BEATS STATERS, 6 to 5

With Earl Mitchell, veteran outfielder, coming in to the pitch for the afternoon, the Bailey clan dropped a non-conference game to Whitman, 6 to 5, on Rogers field. Bailey was saving his regular heavers for the Washington series, but Mitchell pitched a creditable game, the Missionaries winning only after a ninth-inning rally.

The victory was the first scored by the Walla Walla pastimers in their four starts against the Staters this year, the Bailey men having swept a three-game series at Walla Walla early in the season.

CLOSE NON-CONFERENCE SEASON WITH VICTORY

Buck Bailey's sluggers closed their non-conference season and made it "four out of five" from Whitman by taking the final tilt of their five-game series, 5 to 3. Ted Cragin let the invaders down with four hits, while his mates were pounding Clove for 10 solid bingles. Earl Mitchell, who pitched the day before against the Missionaries, celebrated his return to his regular centerfield job by lacing out a home run.

HUSKIES HUMBLE STATERS

Washington State's hold on the top rung of the conference ladder was given a severe jolt when Washington's Huskies invaded Cougartown to hand the Bailey men a one-sided 11 to 3 drubbing. Eighteen hits were gathered off three Cougar pitchers, with White, Washington shortstop, leading the attack with five bingles in six trips to the plate.

Jerry Calhoun, Washington's pitching ace, held the Cougar batters at bay throughout the game. Koster and DiJulio were the only Staters to solve Calhoun's hooks.

COMEDY FEATURES FINAL GAME

Slap stick comedy and ragged baseball featured Washington State's final game of the season, Washington winning, 14 to 9, after one of the most weird exhibitions of baseball in the history of Rogers field.

After three innings of play Washington was leading, 9 to 1, when threatening clouds promised rain. Washington was eager to finish the five innings required to make a game legal, while the Cougars stalled for time and a wash-out. While the Huskies took three feeble strikes per man the Staters were kicking the ball to all corners of the lot and Pitcher Oscar Jones was entertaining the crowd with a series of reverse windups and calisthenics before each delivery.

When the threatening storm blew over, the teams settled down and finished the game in short order, with the Cougars scoring seven runs in the final three innings. The defeat toppled Washington State from the conference leadership and enabled Washington to cop the championship by her victory over Idaho two days later.

Freshman Baseball

A SCARCITY of willing opponents left the frosh baseball pastimers high and dry during the spring with only two games on their usually full schedule, but they developed into a formidable aggregation and supplied the varsity with plenty of strong practice opposition. Coach Jack Friel recommended 13 players for numerals at the close of the season.

In their only two games the yearlings trimmed North Central of Spokane, former disciples of Friel, by a 6 to 5 count, and lost a free scoring game to Cheney Normal, 9 to 7.

Art McLarney, shortstop, was easily the outstanding player on the first-year roster. A sensational fielder and fair hitter, McLarney will make a strong bid for a varsity berth. Completing the infield with McLarney were Bob Eldred, star Cougar boxer, who left the squared circle for the diamond to play first base; Bill Gowan, half-pint second baseman; and Johnnie Johnston, guardian of the hot corner.

Earl Barrett and Karl Norby took care of the pitching assignments, with Robin Dixon and Wentzel Hansen alternating behind the plate. In the outfield were Ed Cook, Bob Bowler and Claud Holsten, who incidentally packed one of the biggest war-clubs on the squad. Clarence Sarff and Russell Kasselman were reserve players who played good ball and were awarded numerals.

Karl Schlademan

Track Coach

A TRACK coach of undisputed capability and unparalleled success at Washington State and equally successful as a friend of his men is Coach Karl Schlademan, pilot of the cinder path destinies of the Cougars for the past four years. Coach Schlademan's first three seasons here were marked by the strong showings of his teams and prospects for a banner year this spring are equally bright.

Coming to Washington State from the Middle West, Schlademan did not turn out any "wonder" teams in his first two campaigns, but steadily built the foundations for future years. Now he is reaping the profits of his painstaking work.

Coach Schlademan is no class room track coach. He has been through the mill himself and knows his business from the ground up. As an all-around athlete at DePauw University he was captain of the track team, in addition to being chosen All-State and All-Western end as a football star. Schlademan is a student of track and football and combines his own experiences and theories with the generally accepted standards of coaching.

More than just a mechanical track coach, Schlademan is "one of the boys" and is a true friend of his men in every respect. He is a welcome addition to any "bullfest" and is always ready to join the boys in a round of football, basketball or track stories.

Coach Schlademan combines a winning personality with his winning coaching ability to turn out winning track teams for Washington State.

Varsity Track

BOLSTERING up a small squad of veteran speedsters and weight men with a liberal sprinkling of Sophomore performers, Coach Karl Schlademan sent a powerful but unseasoned track team on the field to represent Washington State College in 1929 intercollegiate competition. The green recruits turned in sparkling work at times and the season as a whole was far above the average in temporary success and in building up toward a banner 1930 campaign.

The Cougar spiked shoe artists led five Northwest schools by a wide margin to win the Tenth Annual Washington Relay Carnival at Seattle in their 1929 debut; swamped Idaho under a 108 to 23 avalanche; lost a dual meet to Washington, 82 1/3 to 48 2/3; and then placed third, a scant one point behind Oregon, in the Northern Division Pacific Coast Conference meet at Eugene.

Coach Schlademan's proteges won six of the 11 events in decisive fashion to upset all the dope in winning Relay Carnival from Washington, Oregon, Oregon State and Montana in the Huskies' own back yard. Foster, W. S. C. sprinter, copped the 100-yard event, while Porter Lainhart, Sophomore jumper, took first honors in the pole vault, a new event on the Carnival program. The crack Cougar quarter mile relay quartet tied the Carnival record of 42.7 seconds in winning that event. The 880-yard medley and mile relays were all won by the Cougars, while three third places and two seconds added to the W. S. C. score.

Washington State won 14 of the 15 first places as Idaho was given a terrific beating by Coach Schlademan's boys in a dual meet on Rogers field in the opening day of Interscholastic week-end. Clean sweeps in four events and the establishment of three new W. S. C. records were included in the scoring orgy at the expense of the Vandals. Clarke, Sophomore runner, set a new mark in the half-mile event; Taylor, veteran miler, hung up a new mark in his favorite event; and the State mile relay quartet of Newman, Kelly, Mooberry and Ouillette cracked the 13-year mark of 3:22 in winning the relay.

Washington's brilliant track team, led by Steve Anderson, crack Olympic hurdler, gave the Cougars their first upset of the year in an 82 1/3 to 48 2/3 decision. Anderson led his mates to clean sweeps in both hurdles events, while Pendleton, the wee Washington flyer, caught Foster in a slump and won both sprint events. Only three first places were taken by the Cougars—Gough winning the high jump, Lainhart taking the broad jump, and Elsensohn romping home ahead of the Husky distance men in the two-mile. The Cougars pushed the Huskies to exceptionally fast time in nearly every event.

Led by Foster, Clarke, Herron and Lainhart, the Cougars placed third among six schools in the Northern Division conference finals at Eugene, being barely nosed out by Oregon in the last event, the mile relay, which Washington State won with Oregon placing fourth for the necessary one point. With Anderson tying the world record of 14.4 seconds in the high hurdles, Washington won the meet with ease. Following this conference meet, Coach Schlademan took five of his runners, Taylor, Mooberry, Kelly, Elsensohn and Clarke, to the National Intercollegiates at Chicago, but there they bowed to the pick of the nation and failed to score.

Freshman Track

DEVELOPING a freshman track aggregation of almost varsity caliber, Coach Karl Schlademan piloted the yearling speedsters through a season of unprecedented successes. The Kittens amassed a score of 346½ points to 176½ for their opponents as they swept through four meets without an upset.

Featuring the season was the yearlings' victory over the Whitman college varsity, which had handed the university of Idaho varsity a bad trimming the week before. The first year men tallied 76 points to 55 for the Missionaries. The other three frosh triumphs included an 84½ to 46½ win over Cheney Normal and two decisions over the Idaho froshers by scores of 98 to 33 and 88 to 42.

The work of Ralph Carlton, who copped both sprint events, and Albert Crosetto, winner of the half mile and the mile, was outstanding in the frosh upset of Whitman's strong team. Ray Schrock did good work with a tie for first in the high jump and seconds in both the low and high hurdles.

The breaking of the frosh javelin record by Emmett (Mutt) Schroeder with a toss of 185 feet 9½ inches featured the frosh win over Cheney Normal. Schroeder's long heave was far better than any recorded by varsity javelin tossers and his graduation to varsity ranks will be welcomed by Coach Schlademan. Carlton again romped away with the sprints in fast time.

The Idaho frosh meets did not bring out any sensational performances. Bob Barnard, for three years king of interscholastic sprinters, led the yearling spiked shoe artists with 11 points, while Homer Hein, third of the House of Hein, famous in W. S. C. athletic annals as discus throwers and football players, maintained the family reputation by winning the discus and javelin and placing third in the shot event.

Rogers Field

To keep the State College of Washington on an even basis with the other Pacific Coast conference institutions, the Associated Students, under the guiding hand of Earl V. Foster, have almost completed an extensive two-year building program. Beginning with the $500,000 gymnasium, completed in 1928, an expansion policy has been started which will give Washington State the most complete athletic plant in the West.

The new field house, adjacent to the gymnasium, was opened for the track season of 1930, and is an important unit in the improved athletic facilities here.

Rogers field itself is in line for a change that will probably cause a massive shift in its appearance. The huge, half-mile track, that completely surrounds the whole of Rogers field, will be shortened to the common quarter-mile distance. This will be in accordance with the regulation 440-yard track of other colleges of the Pacific coast.

The 220-yard straightaway, however, will be unchanged, because of the advantages offered by a straight runway over that of a circular path. The proposed shortening of the cinder path will encircle the turf gridiron. It will not in any way cause any changes in the present baseball lot.

Tennis, 1929

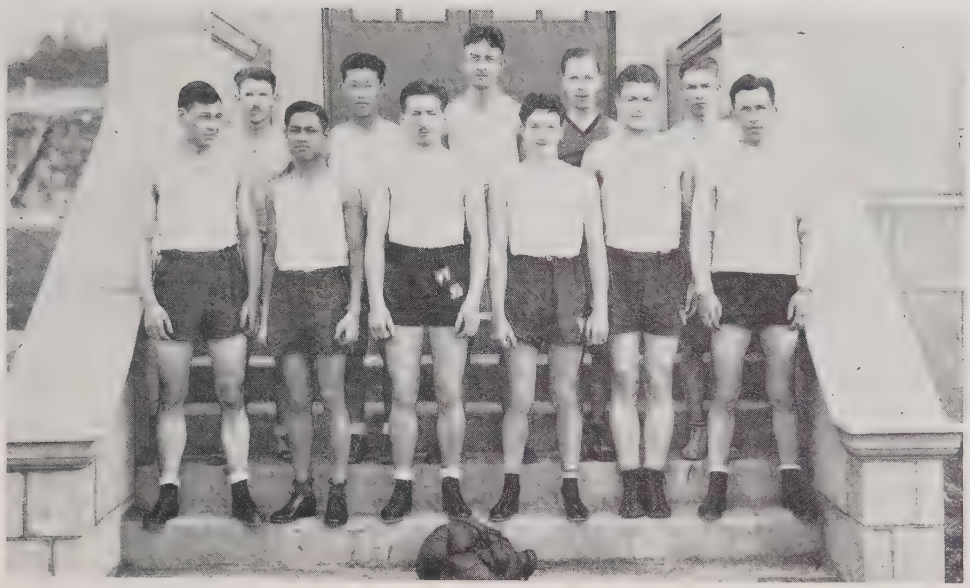
WITH a pair of veterans and four dependable new men, the Cougar varsity tennis team won three intercollegiate meets and lost two during the 1929 season. The schedule opened with Washington State collecting nine victories in as many matches in a practice with Idaho on April 20.

Playing Washington at Seattle on May 4, the Cougars were mowed down in a half-dozen matches. Alan Chapman and Dave Botting, lettermen, and Claude Rethlefson and Bill Chun competed against Newkirk, Langlie and the rest of the flashy Husky racketeers.

Idaho was sent home with a severe drubbing on Saturday, May 11, when W. S. C. rackets were again flashing in top form. But the following week-end Whitman's strong crew invaded Pullman and carried away a full bag of Cougar scalps. The season ended against Idaho at Moscow on May 25, with a second string State college line-up thoroughly paddling the Vandals.

Coach Hal Orion recommended third-year letters for Botting and Alan Chapman, and first-year awards for Claude Rethlefson, Horace Chapman, Bill Chun and Connie Peck.

While the varsity was having up and down success, the W. S. C. freshman tennis team was sailing undefeated through a tough row of meets. The yearlings twice trounced Lewis and Clark high school of Spokane, and had no trouble trimming Lewiston Normal. Led by Harry Godfrey, flashy Seattle youngster, the Kittens boasted a lineup almost as strong as the varsity team. Others who earned numeral sweaters were: Roy Ostrum, Elmer Strand, Fred Clawson and Charles Hessey.



First row—Eldred, Cuesta, Cleghorn, Danielson, Gilbert, Coach Deeter.
Second row—Boucher, Uno, Brown, Brannon, Shoaf.

Varsity Boxing

WITH a horde of promising material early in the season, the pugilistic outlook for the 1930 season was considered to be far from dark. Although the Cougars failed to perform miracles, the campaign was far from fruitless, according to "Ike" Deeter, varsity coach. With some fierce sluggers advancing from the first year outfit, successful results are expected during the 1931 season.

In the first of the six meets that the Staters participated in, they lost four out of seven bouts to the Multnomah pugilists of Portland. The next contest was held in Spokane on the Gonzagans' canvas. This smoker was climaxed by a tie, 4 to 4.

Fighting before a throng of 5,000 spectators in the Seattle arena, the Staters dropped five of the seven bouts. The battles were fought on unusually even terms, though the Cougars were minus the services of two veteran fistic stars, Eldred and Cleghorn.

Deeter escorted three representatives to the Pacific Coast Amateur meet in Portland. Of the three, Cuesta was the only one to reach the finals where he was eliminated.

Gonzaga's jinx still kept the Cougars baffled in the fifth meet of the season, and squeezed out a four to three victory. Four men reached the finals in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate tournament in Seattle, the windup card for the Washington State fighters. Eldred, Cleghorn, Burke, and Gilbert were the aggressive ones, Burke the only mit slinger to cop a verdict. Consequently he was named as the Coast 135-pound champion.

Lettermen were: Bernardo Cuesta, 115; Dale Boucher, 115; Elrey Shoaf, 126; Dave Brannon, 126; Mike Burke, 135; Ted Danielson, 135; Don Cleghorn, 147; Masaro Uno, 147; Bob Eldred, 160; Grover Brown, 160; Les Gilbert, 175; and Bill Goodwin, heavyweight.

First row—Pease, Davis, Moore.
Second row—Sackett, Minzel, Doheny, Coach Driskill.

Varsity Wrestling

WASHINGTON State nose-benders kept themselves busy with three regular meets, an entrance into the Minor Sports Carnival, and an unscheduled affair with the Spokane Athletic Club.

Although Kenneth "Paddy" Driskill had a not too promising lot of material to round out for the season, he managed to place a few in the winning column. In two meets against Idaho, honors were divided evenly, Idaho taking the first encounter and the Staters the next.

In the first tangle against the Vandals, March 15, Wallace Pease, 125 pounder, decisioned Shaw of the Vandals, and Harold Davis, Cougar 135 pounder, whipped Grayott, of Idaho. These were the only points garnered by the Staters, the team losing 15 to 3.

A week later, March 21, the Moscow team visited the local mat den, and was completely overwhelmed, 18 to 3. The following Cougars won their matches: Wallace Pease, 125; Harold Davis, 135; Marvin Minzel, 158; and Paul Davies, 175. Ralph Doheny was the only member of the team to lose his match.

Manley Sackett, Leonard Moore, and Ralph Doheny were sent to the Multnomah Athletic Club meet in Portland January 27, but lost. In an informal meet with the Spokane Athletic Club, Washington State entered four men in exhibition bouts. Spokane won two out of three scraps. Doheny was the only winner.

The Minor Sports Program, held March 8, found three Cougar grapplers taking away their respective championships of the conference. They were: Pease, Davis, and Minzel. Doheny, Minzell, Paul Davies, and George Hurley were eliminated as the meet progressed.

Lettermen for the season were Wallace Pease, Harold Davis, Manley Sackett, Ralph Doheny, Marvin Minzell, Paul Davies, Leonard Moore, Bud Gordanier.

State Interscholastic

FOUR state records were smashed as Lewis and Clark high school's brilliant track team won first honors in the twentieth annual State Interscholastic track and field meet on the Rogers field oval. Some 200 of the pick of the state's prep school athletes battled for honors during the two days of competition.

Paul Swift, Lewis and Clark speed merchant, took individual honors with firsts in the 100 and 220 yard events and the broad jump, setting a new state record in the latter. Lincoln high school of Tacoma trailed second to Lewis and Clark in team scores in leading the West Central district to an overwhelming victory in district scores. The Tacoma schools, in their first year in State Interscholastic competition, featured the meet with their unexpectedly strong showing.

A record dating back to the pre-war days of 1915 went by the boards when Winsor of Arlington raced over the high hurdles in 16.1 seconds. In his preliminary heat of the 220-yard dash Swift tied the national prep school record of 21.3 seconds. Matilla of Kirkland set a new mark in the pole vault, while the crack Lincoln high school relay quartet hung up a new record in the half-mile relay.

The summary of the events tells the story of one of the most sensational and successful prep school track carnivals in history:

Walla Walla garnered first place in an easy manner, while Endicott was forced to the limit to wrest second place from Steptoe and Dayton. In the Seattle play-off, Walla Walla placed second, and Steptoe took fifth.

Varsity Swimming

FOUR major swimming meets comprised the Washington State varsity swimming team's program. Although young as a representative Cougar sport, swimming showed promise of developing into one of the outstanding minor activities on the State's athletic program.

In the first meet of the year against Idaho, Coach William R. Bond's natators copped the points handily, and romped away with 38 tallies while the Vandals were jilted with 28.

North Central high school of Spokane was host to the Cougar splashers on March 14, and drubbed the latter 37 to 22.

Apparently obsessed with the idea of establishing true superiority over the Crimson and Gray boys, the North Centralites again besieged the enemy in the Cougars' own lair. The Spokane team won this meet, 32 to 27.

The final showing of the season was made March 29 when Washington State met the Moscow crew at Idaho. Washington won the meet, 32 to 27.

Lettermen for the year were Bill Ross, dives and sprints; Orville Dunham, sprints and distances; James Hungate, breast stroke; Wendell Clarke, breast stroke; Lorenzo True, sprints and distances; and Morris Webb, back stroke. William R. Bond is varsity swimming coach as well as mentor of the yearling swimmers. Art Grosso is manager.

Field House

OFFERING the finest that athletes can desire, the new Washington State field house in its first year of use has fulfilled all requirements.

The advantage offered to athletes in early training for spring sports is priceless. Soon after the inclement weather set in, the mammoth structure was brimming over with track, baseball, and spring football men.

The early call for spring football candidates, made possible by the use of the new "Cougar's cage," allowed Coach O. E. "Babe" Hollingbery to drill his warriors intensely for six weeks, and dismiss them in time to turn out for the following spring sports.

Included within the four canyon-like walls are a dirt running track, a regulation size baseball diamond, and a gridiron field. Needless to say, the results of such an addition to the Cougars' growing Physical Education unit, are too many to mention.

First row—Jimmie Kilgore, Bob Van Tuyl, Carl Ellingsen, Bob Jernberg.
Second row—Conrad Peck, Quent Coffin, Wes Lambert, Helmer Roen, Bob Eldred, Dick Shannon, Homer Manley, Intramural Manager.

Intramural Baseball

HEAVY slugging and rather tight fielding featured the nip-and-tuck race for the 1929 intramural baseball championship. In the final dash for the pennant the Beta Theta Pi sluggers downed the Sigma Chis to win the championship.

Considering that all lettermen and numeral men were barred from competing in the two leagues, the play was exceptionally fast, and some good baseball was witnessed.

Twenty-four groups were represented in the baseball series. They were: Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Kappa Lambda, Alpha Tau Omega, Beta Theta Pi, Gauge and Gavel, Kappa Psi, Kappa Sigma, Lambda Chi, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Tau, Phi Epsilon, Phi Sigma Kappa, Psi Nu Sigma, Sigma Phi Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Theta Chi, Theta Xi, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Ferry Hall, Independents, and Stimson Hall.

Intramural Basketball

ENTERING the 1930 intramural basketball season, Tau Mem Aleph, the Independents, as they were formerly known, whipped through all competition to win the intramural championship.

Despite the restriction placed on all lettermen and numeral winners, the two leagues witnessed some of the fastest play enjoyed in several years. Two leagues, A and B, were composed of 12 group teams each. The Independents toppled the S. A. E. team, B winners, from the championship ladder in a close overtime game. Not content with winning the local championship, the Tau Mems marched over to Idaho, and trounced the Vandal intramural winners in a two-game series.

Teams entered in the two leagues were under the supervision of Jack Friel, basketball coach, and Karl Schlademan, track coach. The two leagues were composed of the following groups:

"A" league—Alpha Tau Omega, Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Kappa Lambda, Beta Theta Pi, Ferry Hall, Tau Mem Aleph, Kappa Psi, Kappa Sigma, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Delta Theta, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Phi Kappa Tau.

"B" league—Phi Sigma Kappa, Psi Nu Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Phi Sigma, Stimson Hall, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Theta Chi, Theta Xi, and Erenata Club.

The all-intramural basketball team as chosen by Art Hyppa, sports editor of the Evergreen, and his assistants is as follows:

First Team	POSITION	Second Team
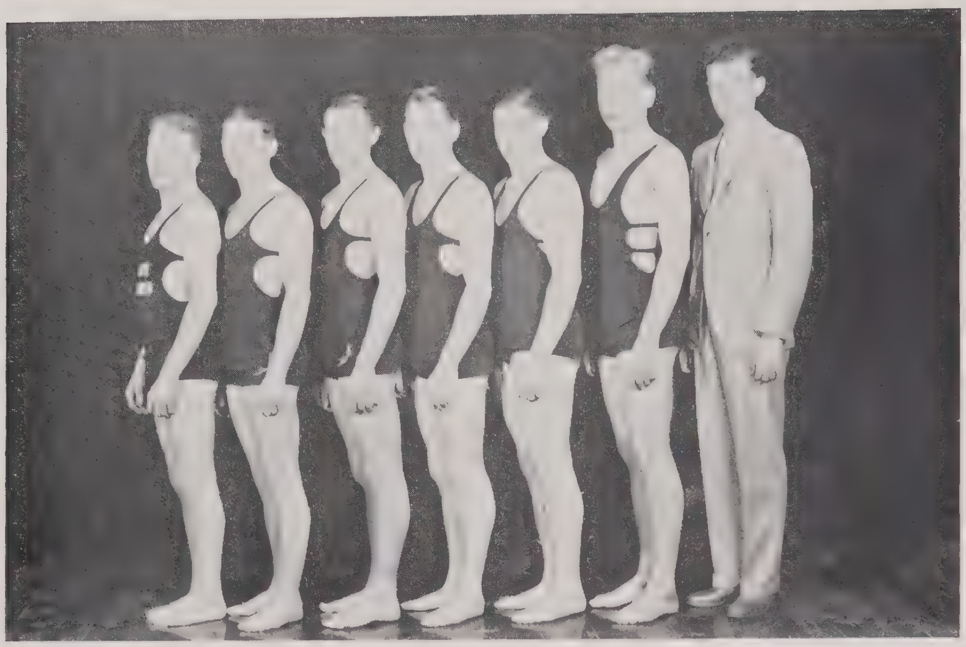
Pierce (Sigma Alpha Epsilon)	F	Harrop (Stimson Hall)
Martin (Tau Mem Aleph)	F	Walters (Pi Kappa Alpha)
Mus (Stimson Hall)	C	Gordon (Sigma Alpha Epsilon)
Camp (Sigma Chi)	G	Tulle (Stimson Hall)
Hallet (Kappa Sigma)	G	Longworth (Lambda Chi Alpha)



Hungate, Roberts, Pederson, Sleeth, Stocker, Simpson, Sexton
Kappa Sigma Team

Intramural Swimming

ALTHOUGH yet in its infancy, swimming is beginning to create added interest as was manifest in the 1930 intramural meet. Kappa Sigma garnered first place with 26 points; Theta Chi came in second with 16; Stimson Hall, third with 6; Theta Xi with 5 points, and Alpha Tau Omega with 1, finished fourth and fifth, respectively.

High point-winners of the meet were Vern Pederson, Kappa Sigma, 10; Lorenzo True, Theta Chi, 9; and Wendell Clarke, Theta Xi, 5. The events were: relay, 100-yard breast-stroke, 100-yard back-stroke, 220-yard free style, diving, and 100-yard free style. William R. Bond, varsity swimming coach, was supervisor of the intramural affair.

Intramural Wrestling

THE intramural wrestling tournament was composed of thirteen five-man group teams. Much interest was stimulated as the eliminations continued. Kappa Sigma was the final winner with 29 points; to the second place Ferry Hall crew with 20 points.

More interest than any previous year was aroused, according to Manager Kenneth "Paddy" Driskill. Large groups of spectators and rooters witnessed all of the elimination bouts. About 250 persons packed the small wrestling headquarters on the afternoon of the finals, March 29th. Although the material was a little green, wrestling dopesters are of the opinion that some valuable additions may be picked up here for the varsity nose-benders next year.

In the finals the winner of the tournament was not decided until the last event on the program when Bishop, Kappa Sig., 178-pounder, flopped Milliam twice in succession to win an extra five points for his team's total. His total for the day was 10 as he threw Milliam in the first heat in 1 minute and 35 seconds.

Nutting of Ferry Hall, fighting at 128 pounds, eked two falls out of Morgan, Kappa Sigma, to win 10 points for the Hallers. Morgan drew three points in the second round when he decisioned Nutting.

Roberts, Kappa Sig 138-pounder, threw Springer of Ferry twice and garnered 10 points for the Kappa Sigs. Case, Kappa Sig, took two decisions from Stobie, and Stillwell, Ferry Hall, made up the difference in the next two rounds when he tossed Johnson, 158-pound Kappa Sig, in two successive attempts.

The various teams entered in the tournament were: Kappa Sigma, Tau Mem Aleph, Sigma Phi Sigma, Theta Xi, Tau Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Alpha Kappa Lambda, Ferry Hall, Stimson Hall, Pi Kappa Alpha, Alpha Tau Omega, Phi Sigma Kappa, and Beta Theta Pi.

Intramural Boxing

ONE hundred and fifty entries were registered in the intramural boxing tournament. Kappa Sigma, winning three of its final bouts, took the trophy.

Those crowned intramural champions were: Pedro Augustin, 115, Cosmopolitan Club; Joe Glick, 126, Stimson Hall; Lauson Watkins, 135, Kappa Sigma; Ruben Newcomb, 145, Kappa Sigma; Lester Hallet, 160, Kappa Sigma; Brunstead, 175, Sigma Phi Sigma; and Frank Wallulis, heavyweight, Stimson Hall.

Some of the outstanding men of the meet, and who bid fair to bolster the varsity next season are: Taylor, Folsom, Ryan, Augustin, Wallulis, and Watkins.

Intramural Track

FOUR campus records went by the boards and a fifth was tied as Alpha Tau Omega fraternity took first place in the annual intramural two-day track and field carnival. The A. T. O.'s scored 25 points, closely followed by Sigma Phi Epsilon and Kappa Sigma.

New marks in field events were hung up by Mel Hein, with a toss of 124 feet 9 inches in the discus; Howard Morgan, with a leap of 10 feet 9 inches in the pole vault; and Wilbur Luft, with a jump of 21 feet 2 inches in the broad jump. The only track record to fall was the 440-yard dash, which Henry MacLeod clipped off in 53.8. Dan Horan, high point man of the meet, tied the mark of 23.4 in the 220-yard dash. The summary:

100-yard dash—Horan (KS) first; Harris (SC) second; Broom (PDT) third; MacLeod (SPE) fourth. Time, 10.4.

Intramural Cross-Country

FOR the second consecutive time, Ferry Hall tracksters won the intramural cross-country meet. The annual meet was the second of its kind at Washington State.

Although Ferry Hall took first place, in team totals, the individual victor of the affair was Wills, Psi Nu Sigma. White, Ferry Hall, and Inion, Sigma Phi Sigma, were second and third respectively.

The first four group winners were Ferry Hall, first; Stimson Hall, second; Sigma Phi Sigma, third; and Alpha Gamma Rho, fourth.

One hundred and sixty joggers started the three-mile race and 121 finished and scored. By winning the Cross-country meet, Ferry Hall added 35 points towards its intramural championship for the year. Stimson Hall earned 25.

Matrix Table

HONORING Dorothy Knight Kromers, journalist, Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism honorary, entertained at Matrix Table at the Washington Hotel on the evening of March 28. About 270 prominent faculty women, townswomen and women students attended.

A program of skits and songs by the Collegiate Four, readings by Marjorie Taylor and Jane Wright, and incidental music by Adrian Purcell and Evelyn Sparlin, were presented throughout the banquet.

"In Strictest Confidence" was the subject of Mrs. Kromer's talk in which she related some of the experiences of a Heart Throbs editor on a city daily.

Margaret Steward, as the most outstanding freshman woman journalist, was the only freshman woman honored with an invitation.

Elizabeth McBroom, Grace Severance, Irma Oestreicher, and Vesta Stone were announced as new Theta Sigma Phi pledges.

Gridiron Banquet

THE Gridiron banquet, annual roasting festival of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary for men in journalism, took place at the Washington Hotel on April 4. The affair represented the annual meeting of the Pullman and Washington State chambers of commerce. Two hundred Pullman business men, faculty members and upperclassmen were entertained.

Bob Phillips, of the Spokane Chronicle's editorial staff, presided as roast master, assisted by members of Sigma Delta Chi.

Robert Stuart was presented as the most outstanding freshman journalist.

New pledges of Sigma Delta Chi named were Ray Sandegren, James Stanford, Art Hyppa, James Oden and Bill Staats.

The Washington State Evergreen

DURING the year 1929-30 the Evergreen has passed several significant milestones in its development as an efficient college newspaper.

Of first importance is the change in personnel policy. At the close of last year it was decided to have one editor serve for two semesters, thus securing better organization and more continuity of effort. In less positions the changes are made more rapidly in order that more of the students may gain valuable experience on the staff, and in order to keep the staff alert and to bring out new talent.

The physical plant of the Evergreen editorial office has been decidedly improved. New indirect lighting fixtures have been added, new desks for reporters, and a new horseshoe type desk for the day editor and copy readers.

This rapid rise is perhaps due to more systematic organization of the editorial staff, as well as to the more specialized courses in editing and newswriting now offered by the Department of Journalism.

ELMER HENRY
Business Manager

THE growth of the Washington State Evergreen from a small weekly sheet to the present seven-column tri-weekly has been made possible largely through the efforts of a succession of efficient business staffs. The improvement in editorial content has been paralleled by the increase in advertising copy and the ever-lengthening subscription list.

The advertising staff has to its credit a large amount of good copy from local stores as well as several important contracts from national advertisers. A new feature installed for the convenience of students is the want-ad department.

The circulation department is an important and smooth-working unit of the business staff. Efficient organization this year has made possible early afternoon delivery to group houses and dormitories, distribution to off-campus students from the Students' Bookstore, and prompt mailing to out-of-town subscribers.

The Chinook

of 1930

THE Chinook page is the hardest page in the book to write. The editor must confine herself to few words—always a difficult task—and with those few words must express both appreciation and appeal; appreciation to the staff as a whole, and appeal to the Associated Students, that they may not judge the 1930 Chinook too harshly.

To the staff—the hardest working group of reporters and department editors it has been my pleasure to work with—I wish to say a small thank you, hoping that they will know I realize its inadequacy in expressing the help they have been to me. I hope they do not feel their time has been wasted, for though they have had to do uninteresting work at times, there is, I have heard, a great deal of that kind of work to do in the world after we have been graduated.

To the Associated Students, we can only say that we have done our best to make the book significant of the things in their college life which they wish to remember. We have tried to strike the high spots, and to color them into as nearly lifelike a picture as possible. We have made a number of changes in the organization of the book. If they do not meet with the approval of the student association, we are sorry, and hope future editors can profit by our experiments.

Business Manager

A NEW plan of financing was adopted by the Chinook this year. Tags were sold for two dollars apiece, thus leaving a smaller balance for students to pay when they call for their books at the end of the year.

The first semester sales were handled by Gamma Alpha Chi, women's professional advertising fraternity, through a canvass of group houses and residence halls. The second semester sales were handled by a sales force at booths in front of the post office and in college buildings. In the two drives a record number of subscriptions were sold for the 1930 Chinook.

The business department, though comparatively small this year, has done very efficient work in handling contracts for honorary pages, and has secured a great many advertisements from firms and individuals who are staunch friends of the State college and firm believers in its enterprises.

The Cougar's Paw

THE Sandy Claws number of the Cougar's Paw, December, 1929, marked the farewell appearance of the humor quarterly on this campus. At the February meeting of the Board of Control it was formally decided that, inasmuch as the scope of the Cougar's Paw was overlapped by other college publications and by national magazines of collegiate humor, and in view of the decreasing interest shown by contributors and subscribers, it should be formally abandoned as an A. S. S. C. W. project.

Ashlock, associate professor of journalism, was presented with one of the awards by members of the Evergreen staff and the Associated Students in recognition of his work as an advisor to college publications and his position as a "real friend of the students." Speaking of the key, Mr. Ashlock said, "I know of no emblem worn on the campus which signifies more of worthwhile service. Those who have worked on the staff know the responsibilities, as well as the opportunities, involved."

Maynard Lee Daggy

Department of Speech

UNDER the capable direction of Maynard Lee Daggy, head of the department of speech, and Miss E. Cynthia Larry, instructor in speech, a brilliant dramatic season for 1929 and 1930 was completed at the State College of Washington.

Four exceptional plays, each differing in type from the others, were given during the year. Two were given under the direction of Mr. Daggey, the first one, "Behold the Bridegroom," by George Kelly, being presented November 1 and 2. This play struck a note of seriousness and was noteworthy for its excellent character portrayals.

E. CYNTHIA LARRY

Miss Larry took the reins in Robert Sherwood's "The Queen's Husband," which presented the farcical dilemma of a hen-pecked king in a revolutionary country, and which she offered December 6 and 7.

Showing a decided change in type from the two plays preceding it, Mr. Daggy gave the famous temperance drama, "Ten Nights in a Barroom," by T. S. Arthur, February 28 and March 1. This play has been given every year since 1858, and though its situations no longer exist, it remains a popular favorite.

In her final presentation, Philip Barry's "Holiday," given April 25 and 26, Miss Larry brought out some fine student acting. The play, which was an amusing and entertaining comedy, ended Miss Larry's third year of direction of State College plays as a brilliant climax to a successful season.

"Behold the Bridegroom"

Maynard Lee Daggy, head of the department of speech, opened a brilliant season for Washington State dramatics with the presentation of "Behold the Bridegroom," by George Kelley, given Friday and Saturday evenings, November 1 and 2.

Striking a keynote of seriousness, the entire play was an excellent character study, with the plot of secondary interest. Although young, every actor played his part with a seriousness which held the audience keenly intent during the entire play. Pointing out the inevitable tragedy which follows the violation of fundamental morals, the play contained a moral which everyone realized, and, of greater importance, remembered.

"The Queen's Husband"

"The Queen's Husband," a delightful comedy by Robert Sherwood, presented by the Speech Department, December 6 and 7, was exceptionally well received. One of the outstanding features of the play was the beautiful and unique furniture, which had been specially constructed for it.

Revolutionary and love tangles in a mythical kingdom, dominated by a headstrong queen, are finally straightened out by the whimsical, henpecked king, the queen's husband. The play abounds in delicious humor.

Directed by Miss E. Cynthia Larry, each situation was perfected and made real. Every character lived his part and combined to make one of the most enjoyable performances of the year.

"Ten Nights in a Barroom"

A revival of T. S. Arthur's temperance drama, "Ten Nights in a Barroom" was presented by the Speech Department, under the direction of Maynard Lee Daggy, February 28 and March 1.

The story deals with the old problem of the village drunkard and his long suffering wife and angel daughter. All the old gestures and scenes were faithfully reproduced.

Between the acts special features were presented. Laura Reeves and Abner Kramer danced, Ed Gilbert recited "The Face on the Barroom Floor" and Joan Bailey and Marjorie Taylor appeared as the Cherbury sisters, fresh from European triumphs.

"Holiday"

Philip Barry's amusing comedy, "Holiday," was the final play of the season, produced under the direction of Miss Cynthia Larry, April 25 and 26.

The story is laid in the home of one of the very rich, into which Johnny Case, a straightforward young man who believes in playing while young and working when old, wanders. As the story develops, he becomes attached to Julia, the elder daughter.

Their theories on living clash, and finally Johnny leaves for a holiday in Europe with Linda, a younger daughter, who loves him and approves of his ideas on life.

The play was a success both nights, due to Miss Larry's skillful directing and the clever acting of all the players. The cast included:

Dance Drama

A DELIGHTFUL background of music, poetry, and literature characterized the fifth annual Dance Drama presented May 10 in the college auditorium under the direction of Maurine Hall.

Dance Drama, which is fast becoming a tradition in æsthetic circles, is one of the most popular entertainments presented upon the local stage. Thoroughly charming in theme and presentation, it is each year gaining in student and faculty acclaim, and much credit is due Miss Hall for her inspirational direction.

This year, Part One included "The Creation," which was a description of the beginning of the world; the "Hoop Dance," a beautiful study in black and white; "Peasants," and "The Wind," and "The History of the Dance." The latter interpreted the evolution of the dance, from its earliest savage beginning, through the Greek and Roman era, the day of the folk dance, the ballet, and finally to the modern natural interpretive dance.

A lighter touch was introduced in "Golliwog Cake Walk," "Grotesque," "Sing a Song of Six Pence," the "Old Woman Who Lived in a Shoe," and four other unique presentations of nursery rhymes.

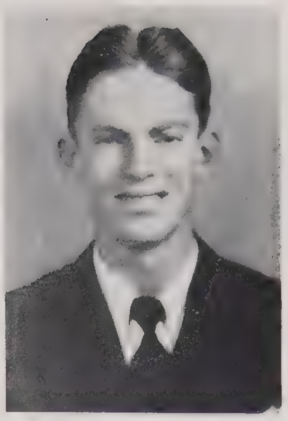
All-College Revue

COLORFUL and original skits made the eighth annual All-College Revue a delightful piece of entertainment. It was presented November 8 and 9, under the direction of Abner Kramer, and sponsored by the Associated Women Students, to raise funds for a women's building.

Orchesus, honorary dancing group, was awarded first place for the best full act, presenting "Sea Fantasy," an artistically beautiful dance pageant. The cast included Edwina Dean, Virginia Renz, Kathleen Nealey, Beth Kohler, Iva Sellig, Polly Fredericks, Lucille Eckman, Dorothy Rinkenberger, Jean Duncan, Lois Corwin, Joan Bailey, Helen McEachran, Kathleen Lynch, Betty Bement, Billy Seipman, and Vera Plath. Second prize was awarded to Stimson Hall, with a burlesque entitled "A Gripping Romance," while honorable mention went to Alpha Xi Delta for "Bellhop Revue."

Other groups presenting full acts were Kappa Kappa Gamma, Alpha Gamma, Phi Kappa Tau, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Alpha Chi Omega.



ABNER KRAMER

The Glee Club won first place for the best curtain act with a burlesque opera. Included in the cast were Grace Wilcox, Ruth Meredith, Herbert Wixson and John Groenig. Lambda Chi Alpha was given honorable mention.

In charge of the Revue were:

Dorothy Hegnauer	Manager
Elsie Fletcher	Business Manager
Chester Pittman	Stage Manager
Paul Miller	Assistant Stage Manager
Kenneth Kadow	Electrician
Bernice Oliphant	Property Manager
Abner Kramer	Dramatic Director

"Sea Fantasy"

The Ad Club Style Show

THE second annual style show, sponsored by the Advertising Club of the State College of Washington, was a distinct success, and bids fair to become an annual event. Both years it has been conducted under the chairmanship of Stanley Pattee, while Ralph McBride has acted as general stage director.

Against a novel futuristic background, many garments presented by downtown merchants and modeled by college students were displayed. Dame Fashion was especially in her glory this year, with her distinct break-away from the past few years in line and length.

Between the different divisions, vaudeville acts added much to the interest of the affair, first prize of $15 going to Alpha Chi Omega for "His Private Secretary," a clever song-and-dance skit. "Just Songs," featuring Pat See and Norma Bradt, was second, winning $10, while Cyril Brewer took third place and was awarded $5 for his group of songs. Ralph McBride was in charge of the vaudeville numbers.

Other members of the committee included Herman Jochimsen, president of the Ad club; Elmer Henry, Patricia Stevens, Sam Randall, and Carroll Plaquet.

The show was given under the auspices of the Associated Students, with the cooperation of the downtown merchants.

Other Attractions

Burton Holmes Travelogue

Bringing far-off places of the world to the campus, Burton Holmes, known as the dean of travelogue men, gave his travel talk to a capacity house Saturday, October 5. Mr. Holmes is an international figure in his line of work. This season he featured two subjects, "The Glories of Paris" and "Siam, the Land of Chang." Mr. Holmes illustrates his fascinating talks with films and still pictures.

"Twelve Thousand"

"Twelve Thousand," a three-act drama by Bruno Frank, was presented by the Moroni Olsen Players October 11 and 12. This is a story of Germany of the past, especially interesting to American playgoers because of its reference to the new land across the seas. The play was noteworthy for its simplicity and eloquence, both unusual qualities for modern German dramatists.

Arthur Pillsbury

Known for many years as Pillsbury, the flower man, Mr. Arthur Pillsbury showed his sensational lapse-of-time pictures in the auditorium December 14. Through his discovery, Dr Pillsbury was able to show the complete life of a flower from seed to blossom in his film here. Along with the film, he gave an interesting lecture to accompany the scenes being shown on the screen.

"The Makropoulos Secret"

Presenting the ever-fascinating problem of immortality, the Moroni Olsen players gave "The Makropoulos Secret," by Karel Capek, Friday, January 17. This was their second appearance here this year, and the unusual plot of their presentation made it one of their most enjoyable performances.

The play, which dealt with the unknown power of a woman to make herself immortal, stimulated thinking and gripped the interest of the audience.

Maud Scheerer

Holding the audience completely spellbound from her first word, Maud Scheerer, dramatic entertainer, presented "The Skin Game," by John Galsworthy, March 8, in the auditorium. Her programs are "dramatic re-creations," and every line she reads is made to stand out and live. Miss Scheerer presents everything from memory, and her plays create masterpieces of seeming reality.

Stoddard King

A nationally known humor writer, and world famous for his home song of the Great War, "The Long, Long Trail," Stoddard King read his own poetry before a delighted audience Saturday, February 22. He presented his poems with the finished style of a born actor, and showed great range and versatility in his choice of subjects.

Tony Sarg Marionettes

Something distinctly unique and interesting came to the campus March 21 with the visit of Tony Sarg's Marionettes. These little mannikins talked and acted as naturally as human beings, due to Tony Sarg's talented fingers.

Among their acts was an adaption of an old Grimm's fairy tale, a short skit of an Arabian Night's tale, and many brief glimpses of the land of make-believe through these clever dolls. They gave a very amusing evening of entertainment.

"White Wings"

Presenting the delicious and rollicking comedy, "White Wings," the Moroni Olsen players brought their successful season to a fitting close, April 19. The story told was of the historic upheaval between 1895 and 1915 by which the horse ceased to be an economic factor in the life of the city, and all the world motorized its manners, morals, ideas and ideals. The play by Phillip Barry treats the subject with a delicate irony and humor which was perfectly interpreted by the entire cast. One of the unusual elements of the play was that one of the main characters was a horse which was portrayed by two of the players.

DUNNING

Dorothy Hutchison Moore
Director

Women's Glee Club

Mrs. Dorothy Moore, director of the Women's Glee club, arranged an interesting and unique program for the annual tour of the school's feminine songsters this season. In addition to excellent ensemble singing, the presentation consisted of piano solos by Merle Throssel, violin numbers by Evelyn Sparlin, and a group of songs by the Women's quartet.

A special feature act, consisting of a skit using the Homecoming idea, portrayed college life in a modern manner. The arrangement represented a sorority group who gave their College Revue act for the benefit of a few returned graduates. The premier part of the act, set in a background representing ancient Persia, included Oriental dances. The second part added vivacity with its variety numbers, which featured the quartet and a clever xylophone number.

The Glee club is fortunate this year in having an orchestra composed entirely of its own members.

To Sam Norin goes much credit for the design and construction of the setting used in the Persian skit, and to Ruth Meredith go the honors on "My Babe," a specialty song which she composed.

The girls visited the following towns on their tour: Colfax, April 29; Cheney, April 30; Spokane, two matinees on May 1, and a final out-of-town concert at Chewelah. The home performance on May 2 and 3 was given in conjunction with the band concert.

The personnel of the chorus includes:

HAROLD P. WHEELER
Conductor

Washington State College Band

THE W. S. C. band had an unusually successful season this year under the direction of Harold Wheeler, conductor. In addition to the several excellent concerts given in the auditorium, the group made its first state tour which included concerts in fourteen towns and involved a trip of twenty-five hundred miles.

On October eighth, the band accompanied the official delegation of the Pullman Chamber of Commerce to Spokane. In addition to these trips the band added a great deal to local athletic attractions and took a trip to Portland to represent the college at the W. S. C.-O. S. C. game. Special stunts and drills were featured at these athletic events and received high commendation from several northwest papers.

The trip which started April 14 and ended with the home concerts on May 2 and 3, included the following towns: Tacoma, Port Angeles, Mount Vernon, Arlington, Snohomish, Olympia, Raymond, Dayton, Pasco, Prosser, Yakima, Ellensburg, Wenatchee. The horn artists appeared before the home audience on May 2 and 3, when they gave several concert and feature numbers in conjunction with the Women's Glee club.

Cyril Brewer accompanied the band as vocal soloist, and Laura Reeves added variety with her feature dancing. Mrs. Wilbur Bradt was also a member of the party.

Mrs. La Verna Kimbrough, assistant professor of vocal music, has been with the department for nine years, and during that time has done some remarkable work. Until this year she has been director of the Women's Glee club and has taken them on several successful tours.

Mrs. Kimbrough contributed much to the success of the Glee club tour this year, in that she has organized and trained the Co-ed Four, a quartet which has added zest to many local programs. They have also given a number of popular radio broadcasts. It is composed of Grace Wilcox, 1st soprano; Betty O'Neal, 2nd soprano; Ruth Meredith, 1st alto; and Patricia See, 2nd alto.

Mrs. Kimbrough trained the students who won the local Atwater Kent contest. She has appeared in a large number of programs as well, and took part in a joint recital with Mr. Harold H. Logan this year.

CYRIL BREWER

The Atwater-Kent Audition Contest

CYRIL A. BREWER, a bass baritone, and a sophomore in the department of music, was winner in the men's division of the Atwater Kent Radio Audition contest for the State of Washington, and represented the division at the Pacific Coast contest held in San Francisco. Paulyn Hardy won the local contest, and took part in the state tryouts in Spokane. She and Mr. Brewer are both voice pupils of Mrs. La Verna E. Kimbrough. Miss Hardy, a sophomore in the department of music, is a coloratura soprano.

This nation-wide contest is sponsored annually by the Atwater Kent Radio Company. Winners of the men's and women's groups in each state are sent to the district contests and winners of these are sent to New York City to compete in the finals. The cash prizes amounting to $25,000 are given to the first five winners among the men and the first five among the women.

In three of these national contests, students from W. S. C. have won two of the state contests and the right to represent the state at the district semi-finals in San Francisco.

The College Orchestra

THE College Orchestra under the direction of Mr. Karl Havlicek, has provided much enjoyable entertainment this year in the form of Vesper programs, numerous radio broadcasts over station K W S C and several complete programs given in Bryan Hall. The orchestra also played the overture for "The Barber of Seville," which was given by the Festival Opera Company, November 16.

The string quartet, which was organized by Mr. Havlicek, broadcast over K W S C each week in addition to its various other entertainments. This quartet consists of Ruth Le Vesconte, first violin; Leslie Hildenbrandt, second violin; John Eddy, viola; and Helen Woodward, cello.

"The Barber of Seville"

"The Barber of Seville" was presented in Bryan Hall, November 16, by the Festival Opera Company, to a capacity audience. The beautiful arias which were translated into English, were wonderfully rendered by the artists. The cast of the play was selected from the Chicago, Metropolitan, and Boston operas.

The comedy and characters were exceptionally well brought out. The barber, who was the outstanding member of the cast, very cleverly won the applause of the audience.

This was the only opera presented before the college this year and was enthusiastically received.

Roland Hays

Roland Hays, the great negro tenor, gave his second concert at Washington State College in Bryan Hall, April 5. He is one of the finest lyric tenors in America, and his singing of the negro spirituals is highly praised the world over.

His concert two years ago was one of his best in many seasons, but this year he surpassed by far his first appearance in the opinion of the audience. The capacity crowd that heard him acclaimed him as giving one of the best entertainments of the year.

The Crucifixion

The Crucifixion, an oratorio by Sir John Stainer, was presented on Good Friday, April 18, under the direction of Robert U. Nelson of the music faculty. The chorus of 22 people included the college chorus, the Men's Glee club, and church choirs and singers of the town.

The tenor solos were sung by Harold Fraser, a well known singer from Spokane. Heber D. Nasmyth, instructor in voice at the college, sang the baritone solos.

The performance was very well attended and was also broadcast over station KWSC. It is hoped that the oratorio will become an annual event here.

Debate Coach

Forensic

To William Homer Veatch, director of forensic activities, goes much of the credit for the success of forensic activities at Washington State College during the past few years. He came here three years ago from the University of California at Los Angeles where he instructed in speech. Previous to this he was a speech instructor at the University of Utah and was department head at South Dakota Wesleyan University. He is affiliated with Pi Kappa Delta and Delta Sigma Rho, national forensic honoraries, National Collegiate Players and Theta Alpha Phi, national dramatic honoraries.

The varsity debate teams participated in twenty-nine debates, winning nine, losing ten, and participating in eight non-decision debates. Two contests were scheduled for the Sophomore team, and five for the Freshman team. W. S. C. was represented in the Pacific Forensic League Extempore and Oratorical Contests.

Paul Coie very efficiently fulfilled the position of debate manager. He has participated in varsity debate for three years and in the Pacific Forensic League Oratorical Contests this year.

"Three Weeks" -- A Debater's Diary

Pullman, March 16—Peacefully left town. Looked vainly about for band and cheerleaders.

Pacific University, March 17—Spent day in kidding Carlyn Winger—he had his come-back that evening.

Willamette University, March 18—Paul reminded the audience that, even if his last name sounded like that of the famous Frenchman, he didn't get better "day by day." Stayed at the Hotel Senator and spent time log-sawing, not log-rolling.

Oregon Normal School, March 19—Stay was brief and uneventful. Paul lamented absence of co-eds, who were home for spring vacation.

Oregon State College, March 20—Spent day in hard work in library. Debate held over KOAC—as is usual for debates, "the audience was unseen."

University of Oregon, March 21—Took ether again, over KORE, and chalked up the first one.

University of Southern California, March 23—U. S. C. debate manager showed northerners the beauties of California—Kenneth claimed most of them were red-haired. Debate held in a church; audience small, as they feared collection plates would be in order. Visitors unimpressed by a visit to Hollywood "talkie" studio—probably because they were debaters.

University of California at Los Angeles, March 24—Northern debaters so overcome with beauties of the new campus that the debate slipped by them. Kenneth "had situation in a nutshell," having the debate well in mind.

University of Arizona, March 26, 27, 28—Spent days in Pacific Coast Forensic League Conference and the evenings in admiring cacti, sagebrush, and other desert "flowers."

Weber College, March 31—Washingtonians staged a preliminary debate with the co-ed opponents of the evening's fray. Necessity of chivalry nearly overcame the Cougars.

Brigham Young University, April 1—Due to unforeseen circumstances the finances became reduced to three cents. The resulting fast so stimulated the boys that the "Mormons" fell—strike three, and the last.

University of Utah, April 2—Money finally arrived. The sudden feeling of wealth must have caused a relapse, for the result was another flop.

Utah State College, April 3—Debates ended with another non-decision. The campus showed the visitors a grand finale to the trip.

Pullman, April 5—The prodigals sneaked quietly into town and noticed in the Evergreen that their arrival was scheduled for April 8th—that explained the lack of the reception committee. Trip covered 4,842 miles, in 10 states, not counting distance spent in pacing on the platforms.

RASMUSSEN

Major Samuel A. Gibson

THE State college has had several excellent heads of its Reserve Officers Training Corps, but none, perhaps, have exceeded the present commandant, Major Samuel A. Gibson, in personality, and efficiency of corp administration. Major Gibson came here in 1927 to take command of the cadets, and the professorship of Military Science and Tactics upon graduation in the course of instruction from the Command and General Staff School of Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

Under his personal supervision, the R. O. T. C. unit has expanded from an enrollment of 894 at the time of his arrival, to 1162 in the fall of 1929. To arouse Cadet interest and cooperation in military training, Major Gibson initiated an honorary military organization known as the Governors Rifles, and a plan of award for exceptional work and appearance. As a consequence of the new plan and resultant cooperation the State College military unit was accorded the rating of Proficient in 1928, and the high rating of Excellent last year, following inspection by the ninth corps area.

Also under the direction of Major Gibson was the drilling of the college band and bugle corps, which were used at the Cougar major sport events held throughout the year.

Major Gibson's military life since his graduation from West Point in 1913, has been varied and colorful. After receiving his rank of Second Lieutenant upon completing his course at the premier cadet training institution, he was stationed with the 21st infantry at Vancouver Barracks, Washington. He saw active service on the Mexican border between 1915 and the outbreak of the World War. During the latter struggle, he was with the Sixth division in France. Later he was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel in the National Army.

After the signing of the armistice, Major Gibson became attached to the General Staff at Washington, D. C. Later he attended the infantry school at Fort Benning, Georgia, and after graduation there was stationed three years in Hawaii.

Organization and Instruction of the Infantry and Engineer ROTC Units State College of Washington

THE R. O. T. C. units at the State College of Washington are organized into a regiment of three battalions, of four companies each, and a band of 65 pieces. The First and Second Battalions comprise the Infantry Unit; and the Third Battalion comprises the Engineer Unit. The first three lettered companies of each battalion are made up from first year basic students—the fourth company is made up from second year basic students. There is an additional company in the regiment which is an honor company known as the "Governor's Rifles." Selected men are transferred from lettered companies to make up the honor company. The men selected are those who have demonstrated special interest in military training and whose work in the R. O. T. C. is outstanding.

Non-commissioned officers for the first three lettered companies of the Infantry Unit are taken from Company "D" (second year basic company) the first half of the year, and from Company "H" (second year basic company) the second half of the year. The company which is not detailed to furnish non-commissioned officers with first year basic companies receive theoretical and practical instruction as a company. The same system is employed in the Engineer Unit with respect to the two platoons of Company "M".

The first year advanced students are divided into two sections. One section furnishes platoon leaders and company commanders in the battalions during the first half of the year while the other section receives theoretical training, and vice versa the second half of the year.

The second year advanced students receive practical and theoretical training as a class in the fall and winter and act as Cadet Field and Staff Officers and company and platoon commanders in the spring.

Students who receive commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps before graduation from college and who enroll in military courses are used as assistant instructors during the year, and are eligible for appointment as cadet Field and Staff Officers.

The training year is divided into three parts as follows: The fall outdoor period (Sept. 20 to Nov. 15), the indoor period (Nov. 16 to March 28), and the spring outdoor period (March 29 to May 30). During the fall outdoor period and the spring outdoor period companies receive practical training for one hour each day, Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays excepted. During the indoor period companies receive two hours a week theoretical training and one hour a week practical training.

No greater honor can be conferred upon a man or woman of the State College than to be chosen one of the members of the Campus Day Big Fives. It is a direct recognition of all the qualities a college man or woman should possess. The members of the groups are chosen for their leadership in student body and general college activities and for their popularity, personality, and character as recognized by their fellow students. They are at the head of the machinery to organize the work to be carried out on Campus Day—an annual event for the activity of the entire student body to better the campus. This is one of the oldest traditions observed at the college. It is probably the best, because at that time each student unselfishly devotes a whole day to the school. Under the leadership of the Big Fives much is done each year to make the campus a pleasanter place on which to live.

Saturday afternoon was devoted to demonstrations by the Military and Physical Education departments. A breakfast for the women delegates, sponsored by the Y. W. C. A., a banquet given by the Associated Students Friday evening, and the college play, "Holiday" were also included in the entertainment program.

The convention was held to give vocational guidance to High School students and to acquaint them with college life.

Station KWSC

YOU are listening to KWSC, the broadcasting station of the State College of Washington. As the next feature on our program, the Chinook will present a review of KWSC's progress during the year 1929-1930:

Ladies and Gentlemen: The year 1929-1930 has been one of the most active and successful years in the history of KWSC. She began operations in the fall of the year with a changed wave length. A second change was granted in December, making her easily within reach of every town in Washington, Oregon, and Idaho. On March 14, an increase of power, granted by the Federal Radio Commission, was effected. KWSC now operates during the day with four times her former power, and broadcasts evening programs with twice the pep behind them.

With full time broadcasting privileges, KWSC has been able to offer a great variety of interesting and unusual programs during the year. Among the most outstanding were KWSC'S seventh birthday party celebrated with a radio college revue; the first reed-organ contest held in the fall as a companion to the old fiddlers' contest sponsored again in the spring; a poetry-reading contest for college students; the broadcast of the Brace motor-ability tests by the women's physical education department; a series of play reviews given by the speech department as an aid to high school principals and superintendents in selecting suitable plays for high school presentation; weekly programs accompanied by instruction in music presented by the faculty of the department of music; and features from every department on the campus.

Innovations in radio broadcasting were the broadcasts from three classrooms, stocks and bonds, and two education classes, and three college credit courses via radio, one in Home Economics and two in travel. Credit for radio broadcasting was given to advanced music and dramatics students, who appeared regularly over KWSC as studio artists in varied and interesting programs.

The personnel of KWSC, responsible for its remarkable success and progress, is: Arvilla Weisel, program director; Cyril Brewer and Albert Snow, announcers and music directors; Emmett Kuntze, chief operator; and Lester Hatfield, Lloyd Buchanan, and Paul Globenski, studio technicians. The faculty committee is: F. F. Nalder, Director of the Division of General College Extension, chairman; H. V. Carpenter, Dean of the College of Engineering, secretary and manager; Herbert Kimbrough, Dean of the School of Music and Fine Arts; and E. C. Johnson, Dean of the College of Agriculture.

KWSC, the Station of Education, now signing off.

Stock Judging - - Animal Husbandry

LIVESTOCK judging as a class room subject was first introduced at the University of Wisconsin in 1892, and at present plays an important part in almost every college in the world in which agriculture is taught.

Recognizing the importance of interesting young men in the study of efficient types of domestic animals, the larger livestock expositions have made college stock judging contests an important feature of their programs. College courses in judging, stimulated by these inter-collegiate judging contests are able to train young men to observe and appreciate the fine points of improved livestock types.

Several former Washington judging team members have coaching positions in various colleges of the United States, while the majority are in some phase of professional livestock work.

Members of the animal husbandry team this year were Donald Fox, Charles Meenach, Cal Svinth, Arthur Chapman, Sheryl Janett, Albert Johnson, and Hector MacDonald, coach. Rated on their ability to judge draft horses, beef cattle, sheep and hogs, they were third in the contest at the Pacific International Livestock Exposition held at Portland, Oregon. Other colleges represented were Oregon State college, Montana Agricultural college, University of Idaho, and University of California.

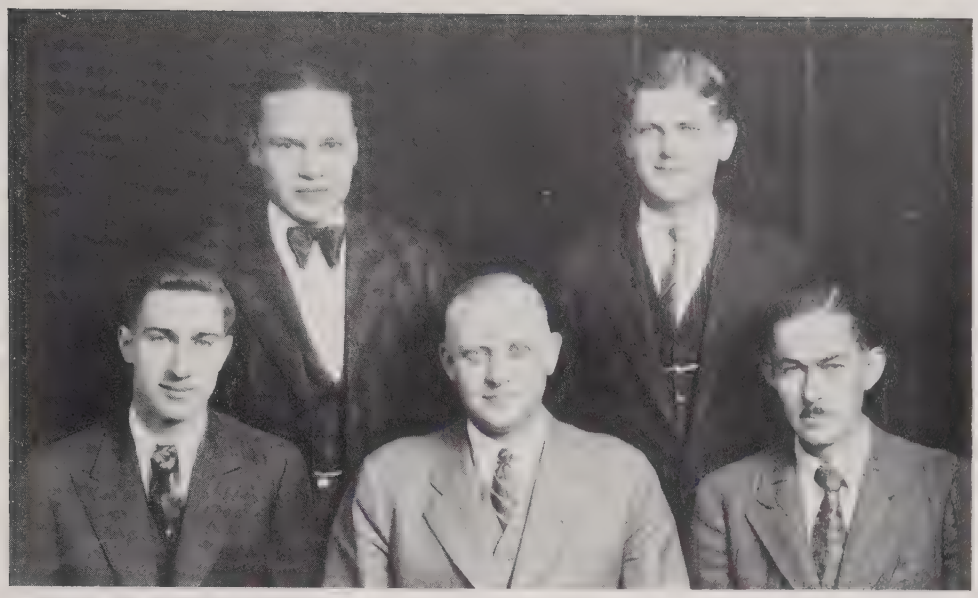
Sheryl Janett of Lincoln county was awarded the Animal Husbandry club bronze medal for being high point man on the team.

Standing—Phillip Hudson, Roy Wiley.
Seated—Les Gilbert, H. A. Bendixen, coach, Oscar Loreen.

Dairy Products Judging

WASHINGTON State, represented by Oscar Loreen, Lester Gilbert, Phillip Hudson, and Roy Wiley, was quite successful in dairy products judging this year. In the contest sponsored by the western division of the American Dairy Science Association and held in connection with the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition, the team placed second among six competing coast teams. Milk, cheese, butter, and ice cream were the products judged.

As a team the men placed second in butter, third in milk, third in cheese, and third in ice cream. Phillip Hudson placed fourth among the individual contestants in average for all products, fourth in butter, fifth in milk, and fifth in ice cream. Oscar Loreen placed third in butter, and Lester Gilbert placed sixth in ice cream. This is the fourteenth and one of the most successful teams that Washington State has sent into the field.



Standing—Paul Clark, Hilmer Axling.
Seated—Ward Vander Griend, J. C. Knott, coach, Ben Swier.

Dairy Cattle Judging

THE dairy cattle judging team this year brought first honors to Washington State from the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition at Portland. Ward Vander Griend, Ben Swier, and Paul Clarke, with Hilmer Axling as alternate, were the men who "outjudged" all the other Pacific Coast teams.

As a team, Washington State's representatives placed first in all breeds, first in Ayrshires, first in Jerseys, fourth in Holsteins, and fourth in Guernseys. Among all the individuals in the contest Ward Vander Griend placed first in Ayrshires, fourth in Holsteins, and fifth in Guernseys; and Paul Clarke placed sixth in Guernseys and sixth in Ayrshires. This is the most successful team that Washington State has sent into the field in years.

Standing Jack Hewins, Walter Robinson, Scott McMichael.
Seated F G. Schafer, coach, Harley Jaquot.

Grain Judging

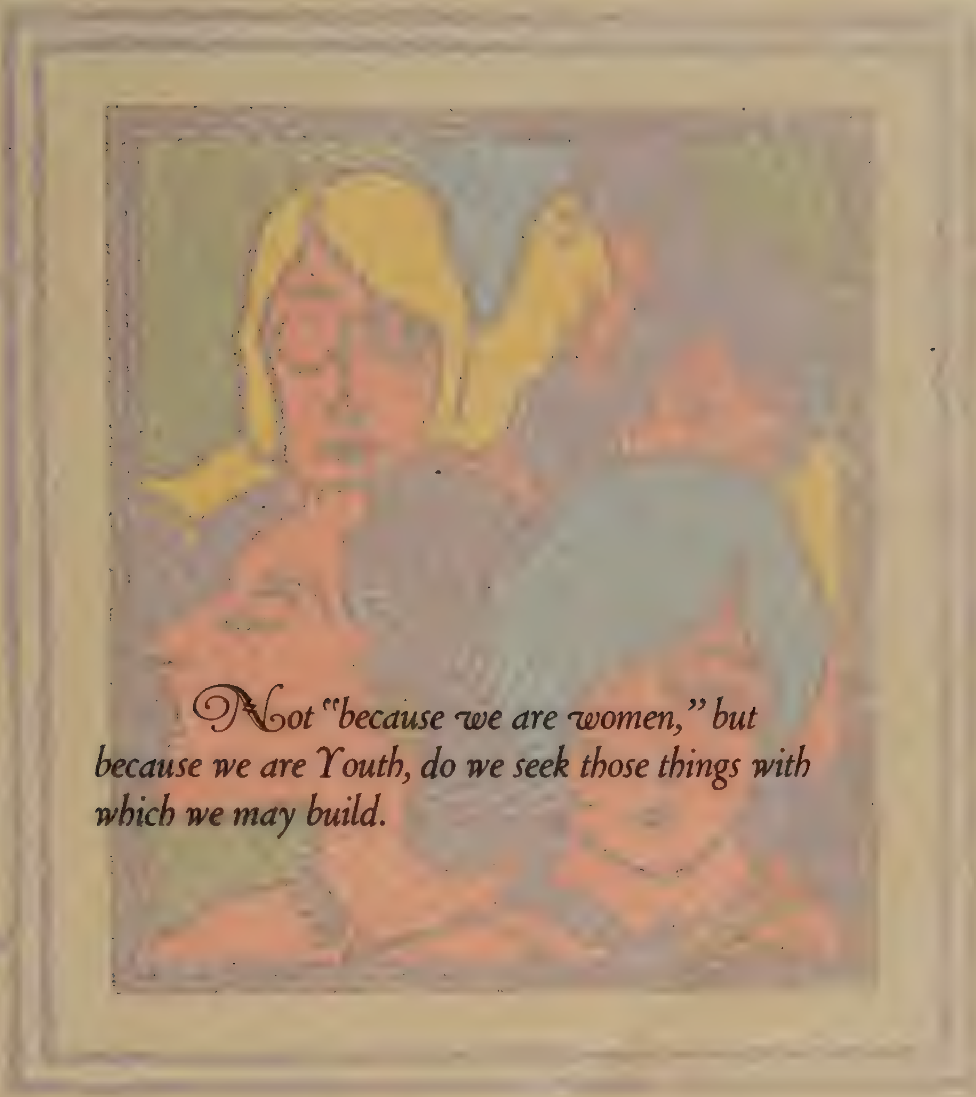
WASHINGTON State this year sent a grain judging team into the field for the first time in the history of the school. At the suggestion of the officials of the Pacific-International Live Stock Exposition, it was decided late in the fall to send a grain judging team to the exposition at Portland. With only three weeks until the contest, Professor Schafer, head of the Department of Farm Crops, hurriedly mapped a concentrated program of study to prepare his team for the competition.

Scott McMichael, Harley Jacquot, and Jack Hewins, with Walter Robinson as alternate, were the men chosen to represent Washington State. For three weeks the members of the team studied constantly, utilizing every available source of information. A Portland grain expert, whose services were secured, aided materially in drilling the men and preparing them for the contest.

At Portland, Washington State gave an enviable account of herself against teams that had been drilling for months. The team placed fourth among the competing teams and came within an inch of capturing several of the awards. With 8,000 points as the possible limit, Washington State was only 79 behind the winner of first place in the contest. For the Portland Seed Company cup, she placed second, with 893 points to the winner's 896; and she missed the Alber's Oats Company cup by only 10 points, 686 to 696 for the winner. Scott McMichael was high point man on the Washington State team, and fifth high among all the contestants.

In view of the fact that so much interest has been taken in this work and because of the remarkable showing of the team at Portland, the Department of Farm Crops, at the request of the All-Ag Club, consented to give a spring semester course in grain judging. This course is of special value to Smith-Hughes students and to all those interested in work with grain and forage crops.

The showing of the first Washington State grain judging team gives strong indication that grain judging is established as another prominent college activity.



Not "because we are women," but because we are Youth, do we seek those things with which we may build.

Standing: Jack Hewins, Walter Robinson, Scott McMichael.
Sitting: E. G. Schafer, coach; Harley Jaquot.

Associated Women Students of the State College of Washington

UPON enrolling at the State College, every woman student becomes a member of the Associated Women Students of the State College of Washington. The organization, formerly the Women's League, was founded in 1912 and is a member of the State Federation of Women's Clubs and the National Intercollegiate Association of University Women. Embodied in its program are enterprises which promote democracy, unification, scholarship, interest and leadership in student undertakings.

The Big Sister program is the first activity which brings women of the organization together, being essentially a means by which the upperclass girls can assist the new women students to become acquainted with the curriculum and activities of the school. The A. W. S. S. C. W. sponsors the annual College Revue to raise funds for a women's building. It also aids in the High School Vocational Conference, and Mothers' Week-end, the latter of which helps to bind parent and student interests through understanding of the school routine.

She was chosen to receive this honor by a committee consisting of the head of the physical education department, a member of the faculty of that department, two senior W. A. A. members, an all-college senior, and a junior member of W. A. A. This committee was chosen in March, and the winner of the award was announced on Women's Field Day.

The first time the emblem was awarded, Lois Comstock received the honor. Since then ten other women have won it. They include Amy Kelso, Virginia Shaw, Beryl Price, Margaret Wakefield, Mary Keith, Dorothy Tucker, Addie Copple, Frances Emerson, Eleanor Hyslop and Georgia Butler.

Tennis Courts

Tennis

Tennis has long been a popular sport with W. S. C. co-eds, and there was a large enrollment in the classes of the past year. While there are no tournaments among the classes yet, it is hoped that in the future there will be regular meets as in the other sports.

Hiking

Co-eds hiking along the roads and over the hills are a familiar sight around Pullman during nearly every season of the year. This is a popular sport among W. S. C. girls who enjoy outdoor exercise.

To encourage hiking the Women's Athletic Association offers one hundred points for eight nine-mile hikes, or fifty points for four nine-mile hikes taken during any one semester. These must be under the leadership of a member of W. A. A.

Basketball

BASKETBALL has played a prominent part in girls' athletics this past year. There were two divisions in the tournaments held this spring: the Intramural meet and the Interclass.

The Intramural tournament preceded the class meet. There were eighteen teams entered. The finals were played between the girls of the Kappa Delta house and Senior Hall, Senior Hall coming out the winner. The score was 11-2. Physical Education majors refereed the games, and reported that excellent sportsmanship was shown by all the girls.

There were six games played in the Interclass meet, each team playing every other team. The seniors won the tournament, having won all three of their games.

Honor teams were chosen from all of the class teams, and these two played for championship. Those in the Crimson group were Violet Bixler, Leith Schaffer, Ethel Kelso, Ruth D. Inman, Sarah Dennison, and Ethel Phillips. Members of the Gray team were Jewel Powers, Margaret Luft, Merna Pell, Ardys McMillen, Crystal Mower and Martha Fear. Subs were Helen Hedborg and Margaret Wise. The final score was 18-17, in favor of the Gray.

Swimming

WITH the completion of the new gymnasium pool in 1929, swimming was made possible for women for the first time.

There were no class meets this year as customary, but members of the different group houses met for an intramural meet.

A women's swimming honorary has been organized, which will award points for life-saving, diving, and fancy swimming. These points will count toward the winning of a W. A. A. sweater.

Golf

Golf is another sport which is promising to run a close second to the other longer established activities of the campus. Regular instruction has been given only the past two years, but that there is a keen interest in the sport is shown by the fact that many girls are turned away each semester from the classes.

Games Feature Athletic Conference

High School Girls' Athletic Conference

THE Physical Education Majors Club, with the cooperation of the physical education department, sponsored the High School Girls' Athletic Conference, held March 28, 29, 1930. The conference was organized by students and teachers of high schools of the state.

Papers, round table discussion and question box on problems relative to high school athletics for girls were discussed Friday.

On Saturday, meetings were held to discuss interscholastic competition for high school girls. At noon the delegates were entertained at a luncheon at the Washington hotel, given by the Women's Athletic Association. In the afternoon they were entertained by the physical education majors and each delegate joined in the instructive play.

Katherine Bernard was chairman of the conference, assisted by Violet Bixler, president of the Physical Education Majors Club.

Women's Day

WOMEN'S Day, May 4, 1929, was a little different from the annual May Fetes of other years. Its purpose was to be a real and complete day for women, with every phase of women's interests on the campus represented.

Virginia Phipps, chosen by popular vote on May 26, was crowned Queen of the May by Dean Annie M. Fertig. Hazel Shoemaker was Maid-of-Honor and her other attendants were Agnes Driscoll, Laura Edwards, Dorothy James, Ruth Huebner, and Edith Bently, herald.

The processional of all women students which followed this ceremony was formed with the queen and her court leading, the seniors, juniors, sophomores and freshmen following in their respective order. The program in the auditorium included short representative numbers by the Women's Glee Club, the Ellen H. Richards Club, the Women's Physical Education Department, Y. W. C. A., Mu Phi Epsilon, Orchesus, and the Speech Department.

The Theta Sigma Phi journalistic award was given to Dorothy Hegnauer, and Georgia Butler received the honor of the Women's Athletic Association final emblem award. Mortar Board announced that Maxine Baker would be Big Sister Captain for the following year.

The Cougar Guard Chapter of the Intercollegiate Knights was organized as a result of the University of Washington's obtaining the Washington State Cougar.

The Intercollegiate Knights were organized by the University of Washington to avoid conflicts over college tradition and standards. There are seven chapters located in the following schools: University of Washington, University of Oregon, University of Idaho, University of Montana, University of Utah, Oregon State College and Washington State College.

The organization, which is composed of underclassmen, receives visiting teams, and helps in every way possible to foster a better spirit on the State College campus.

Service, Sacrifice and Loyalty are the principles upon which the organization is based.

Orchesus

DANCING

Established 1923

What it is: The name Orchesus is taken from the Greek, meaning to dance. Orchesus is a club held together by a spirit expressed in the joy and beauty of the dance. Technique and scholarship are required for membership but entrance is gained through enthusiasm and a love for the beautiful.

Purpose: Orchesus has been established under the supervision of the women's physical education department as an honorary dancing club to develop a creative and intellectual attitude toward dancing as one of the arts, and to further the movement of the dance as an educational activity.

PHI KAPPA PHI

Phi Kappa Phi "differs from other honor societies chiefly in the fact that its doors are open to students in any department of study in the institution where a chapter exists." In other words, it "pleads for a larger charity and a deeper love toward all education in all phases." This all-college national honorary society was founded in 1897.

Corduroy

"So, 'ere's to you, Dirty, dirty,
Do yer squeakin', creakin' part.
Yer the pride of every campus,
But you'd break a mother's heart!"

Big cords, small cords, short cords and tall cords,
You see them on the campus everywhere,
Mud spots, pencil dots, plain dirt and ink blots,
Each speck of grime adds on a share.

Fat cords, lean cords, now-and-then-clean cords,
Sharp remarks faze the wearer? Not a bit!
Ragged cuffs, saggy knees are always baggy,
Fit like tents or boxing tights—what of it?

Psych notes, scrawled Chem, dice on the seat of them
"Class of 31" and "Mary Anne,"
Abstracts, scriptures, bright cracks and brain-blurs,
Decorate the dirt as best they can.

Borrow them, loan them, lose and bemoan them.
Did someone say "Apply the scrubbing board!"?
Wash them? Scour them? Water would devour them!
Never shall a soapsud touch a cord!

"So, 'ere's to you, Dirty-dirty,
Do yer squeakin', creakin' part—
Yer a bloomin' good distinction,
But you'd break a mother's 'eart!"

The Fraternity, made up of units, each separate, distinct . . . bound together . . . chosen blindly . . . trustingly . . . intuitively . . . you have given your promise . . . inescapable as Love . . . or Age . . . leaving its mar within your soul . . . living with innumerable sisters.

Your duty . . . you owe it to the House . . . your own best self . . . aspirations . . . activities . . .

A house? . . . A home? . . . A club of people . . . struggling to govern themselves . . . young . . . experimenting . . . the good of the group . . . development of the individual . . . is the ideal vain?

"You will go out this June from cloistered halls
Of academic wisdom, from quiet walks
Beneath the campus trees, from starlit talks
Of youth and life and God,—your future calls
You into the swirl of cities and of men;
You will not come this way again."

A Few Homecoming Signs

Zeta Tau Alpha won first prize for the girls' groups, but they dismantled their miniature football field featuring Felix the Cat and Bonzo the Dog before our photographer got around.

—W. S. C.—

Stimson Hall's electric sign significant of victory took the men's honors. The Thetas thought of the wishbone pictured in the third snapshot, and Gauge and Gavel devised the other second place winner shown just below them. Other groups whose hard labor is represented on this page include Pi Kappa Alpha, Community Hall, Delta Zeta, Sigma Nu, and Kappa Delta.

The Rooter Section

Johnny King sat up nights and Sundays to work out some rooter section stunts, and if you ask us, he put them across. Typical Cougar pep during the Homecoming game and the Idaho fracas are shown here. A colorful greeting for Idaho, as well as a real W. S. C. welcome to the alums, and a Cougar growl for the Huskies, made the season one of real cheer leader history. The Spurs helped out at the Homecoming game, also.

The Alpha Gammas are the Hula girls.

PHI TAU PHOLLIES

The Glee Club quartet wins first for its curtain act. The story they sing is quite tragic, especially when Ruth Meredith (the fairy in the picture) begins to utter those pathetic "do-re-mi-fa-sols" with such feeling. The others in the "opera" are Grace Wilcox, Herb Wixson, and John Groenig.

—W. S. C.—

The Lambda Chis, with their charming "Belles of Barcelona" captivate the eligible gentlemen in the audience, while the judges vote them second place among the curtain acts.

—W. S. C.—

The others are the Thetas, Alpha Chis, and Alpha Xi Delts.

Thoughts and Such

T'was in the merry month of May,
And cowbells were a-clanging.
The young girl's fancy
Turned to love,
And not to screen doors banging.

The hill, the dale, the moonlit vale,
Were all with laughter ringing.
The young man's fancy
Turned to love,
Not to mosquitoes singing.

Sun shone bright, and lilacs bloomed,
Arms were slowly tanning.
The young girl's fancy
Turned to love,
And not to thoughts of canning.

High above the eagle soared,
In the blue sky ceiling,
The young man's fancy
Turned to love,
And not to concrete wheeling.

Which is neither here nor there,
When warm the days are turning,
The student's fancy
Turns to love,
And not to higher learning.

JOHN KNIGHTON

Saw ye Socrates clothed even in nudity and an lantern, most certainly would ye be convulsed. And saw ye an Humor Editor clothed even in melancholy and an pencil, perhaps ye would laugh also. Yea, and should ye see, in the pages to follow, an imp called Wit, be he clothed in robes or rags, mayhap ye will even smile. And, seeing ye smile, we will rejoice even to our innermost soul, and be at peace.

Salamagundi

THERE are two kinds of Salamagundi—Whitman's chocolates and an Italian salad. There will be nothing sweet about the salad which is to follow. Perhaps you will accuse the chef of injecting a slight surplus of pepper, and dash for a glass of cooling water. And then again, you might take it with a grain of salt. There is an old proverb which says, "You can tell how deep you cut by the dust that flies," so stand by for the recipe:

There is nothing like a good scandal for a first ingredient. Take Gene Endslow, mix with Marian Smith for a short time, and then introduce Don Flagg slowly. If there is no immediate combustion, allow to simmer until it does combust. (Spokane is the best place to do the mixing.)

Drop Pete Green in a bowl and sift in a double handful of seductive coeds. An Amazonian A. D. Pi may be mixed in also, but this will give it potent Powers, and a cup of dashing shieks must be added to counteract the reaction.

A touch of vitriolic acid may be substituted for vanilla. To make this, put Ouillette and Murrow with the board of control, and add Kadow and a sprinkling of Ags. A little touch of Foster might act as a catalytic agent. If an odor arises dump the mixture in the sink and use vanilla.

A dash of tranquillity helps to keep the mixture smooth. Toss in Stan Williams, Grace Norvell, Ross Hewes, and Marjorie Nelson. If this fails to smooth it down add Joe Blum and anybody.

To garnish, put Abner Kramer on top, but tie him down.

The Salamagundi is now ready to serve—if you can handle it.

A Midsummer Knight's Dream

I had a dream, and in it
Things were jumbled up a bit;
I dreamed about a perfect school, and—
Well, here's the gist of it:

Mother Eve and Father Adam sat and pondered for a while,
Cain and Abel romped beneath them, clad discreetly in a smile.
"We must send them out," quoth Adam, "to learn an occupation,
And I hope no snake will come around and spoil their education."

Jesuit fathers preached to Hurons—Jesuit fathers coached the Choctaws—
They taught the bucks to read and write, but quite forgot the dear squaws.
But the bucks did not forget them, to the fathers' consternation,
And studies were a minor in the Red Man's education.

A Himalayan peasant met a Jap along the grade,
Said he, "I'm going to college, to learn myself a trade."
Said the Jap, "Beware of women, fraternities, initiation,
And never let your studies spoil your college
education."

Spake the banker, "Son, be good. Get your every consarned lesson,
For that I'm sending you to school, I will not brook digression."
Then he shut his eyes and thought of his own matriculation,
And how he had not let his studies spoil HIS college
education.

I'll apologize to Rudyard,
If I've jumbled things a bit,
But I dreamed about a perfect school,
And that's the gist of it!

WITH MUSIC IS AN INVITING GLANCE INTO THE FUTURE

A Piano that you will love as long as you live. As the years come and go you are constantly making new friends and bidding old ones good-bye. You are discomforted to lose them, but then you always have one friend that will remain steadfast—clear to the end of the road—your Vose—a lasting happiness—as faithful and as true in tone as the day it came into your life.

From its inception over three-quarters of a century ago, the Vose has won the admiration and approval of the musical public because of Vose durability and exquisite tone quality. Its finely fashioned styles—including beautiful period creations—afford that taste of design, so welcomed by the discriminating purchaser. A musical value not obtainable elsewhere at anything near our moderate prices.

IN MEMORIAM

On a group of Islands in the Southern Seas there Lives a People who Mourn the passing of a Loved One with Olden Songs, such as, "There'll Be A Hot Time In The Old Town Tonight."

So, in Bidding Farewell to the Cougar's Paw, Perhaps We should sing, "Oh, The Cougar's Paw Is Dead," to the Tune of that Old Favorite which Bewails the Demise of the Old Gray Mare, in Bombay.

Certainly We should not Weep and Wail over the Passing of that which was Born, and Lived, for Gaiety. More fitting it is that We should Remember this old Friend with a Laugh at some Merry Quip

CURRENT HISTORY
or
KEEP CHARITY AT HOME

(Note: At mid-year, about the time of the Naval Arms conference in England, there was a sudden outburst of engagements at W. S. C.)

Disarmament history was written in Brittain,
War was denounced, Peace Dove let loose;
But the once-a-week soldiers kept drilling and milling,
Down in the rookery on the Palouse.

NOT JUST STEEL—
BUT 'Art Metal'

TO steel office equipment Art Metal adds new beauty. The smoothly running drawers; the more convenient fittings; the enduring, fire-resisting qualities that you usually associate with steel office equipment—in all these Art Metal has reached a mechanical excellence second to none.

But in the remaining quality you wish office furniture to have—beauty—Art Metal craftsmen have specialized since 1888.

Inheriting soundness and grace of design from the first men ever to make steel office equipment, the modern Art Metal worker has scrupulously adhered to the principle of paying especial care and attention to little details.

From the acid-treated steel that takes a perfect baked on enamel finish, to the solid bronze fittings perfectly machined, Art Metal appeals instantly to your eye as different and pleasing.

The fact that Art Metal desks, files and safes are priced reasonably, simply adds to the years of satisfaction you will find in owning them.

While representatives great were sittin' in Brittain,
Outlawing guns, making powder taboo;
Coeds in Pullman were cunningly gunning
For men, and the face powder flew.
Though Mars, God of War, was bitten in Brittain,
Measures taken to curb both his bite and his bark;
The sheiks of the campus were torches on porches,
And Cupid was sniping at hearts in the dark.

TRU-BLU

Supports Inland Empire Industries

Sometimes we wonder if our friends realize that in addition to the hundreds of men and women employed in the Tru-Blu plant the year around—

30 people are given steady employment all year at Stettler's Box Factory, making paper boxes for Tru-Blu.

60,000 feet of Inland Empire lumber are required every month for wood packing cases and boxes used by Tru-Blu.

30 Inland Empire cows are kept busy the year around to produce milk for the butter used by Tru-Blu.

600 to 700 Inland Empire chickens work overtime to produce the eggs used by Tru-Blu in one year.

4,000 acres of Inland Empire wheat land—producing 18 to 20 bushels per acre—are required to grow the wheat that goes into Tru-Blu's flour annually.

To say nothing of scores of other raw and manufactured products whose use aids proportionately in keeping the Inland Empire prosperous.

Tru-Blu Biscuit Co., Spokane

LOOKING BACKWARD

When you—you and I—grow old and wizened, and wear long beards or smoke a pipe (if you are feminine), will we look back on the yester years and remember certain personalities of our college days? Will we stop and stare and say, "Why, that fellow wears his hat exactly like So-and-so, who was in my Soc. 8 class back in 1930"?

Can we ever forget:

Sam Randall's Harold-Lloyd glasses?

Elmer Schwartz' walk, which is so much like a man-o'-war in a storm?

The State College of Washington

Founded March 28, 1890

THE PULLMAN HERALD

Established November 3, 1880

Two pioneer institutions that have grown from swaddling clothes to sturdy manhood side by side.

Two institutions that have enjoyed close companionship for over a third of a century, developing an enduring friendship that had its inception during the early periods of adversity in the history of each and which has prevailed through the more abundant intervening years.

The Pullman Herald, one of the few business concerns in Pullman the advent of which antedated the establishment of the State College, is fully appreciative of the leading part which the college has played in the progress and development of Pullman and the Inland Empire and the generous contribution it has made toward the growth of this newspaper and the job printing plant in connection.

Our hope is that we may merit a continuation of the liberal patronage of the past and that the long period of friendship may remain unbroken through the years of the future.

Appreciation

The editor of the 1930 Chinook wishes to make the following acknowledgments:

To Loyd Bury, whose counsel has been indispensable, and whose personal interest in the Chinook has inspired the staff when interest lagged, we can express only a small part of the appreciation that is due.

To Walt M. Irvine of the Western Engraving and Colortype Company of Seattle, who was always on the job with true "Cougar" spirit to assist in planning the editorial features, we would say a huge "Thank You."

To W. A. McMahon, upon whom the hardest task of all fell, we are truly indebted. Upon him descended all the inconvenience and pressure of the final assembling, and the last-minute rush, and it was only through the combined personal effort of every worker at the Inland-American Printing Company that the book came out not too far behind schedule.

Finally, to Beverly Richardson in particular, and to the staff as a whole, the editor cannot be too grateful.
